Groesbeck Plans Gala County Semi Centennial

Shriners Turn Over Charity Fund To Salvation Army

Mexia C. Of C. To Arrange Float For Parade

Great preparations are being made at Groesbeck for the Semi-Centennial celebration to be held on Thursday, December 20th. One of the best firms of decorators in the state of Texas has been employed for this decoration and the town is all ready to be decorated in flags and patriotic bunting from one end to the other, and on Monday morning the decorators will begin to make the floats in the parade.

A committee from the Mexia Chamber of Commerce visited Groesbeck on Friday and arranged to have a float and a decorated automobile in the parade. The committee composed of R. F. Babb, J. W. Prickett, Gene Sinclair and Ben F. Stollenwerk were instructed by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce to arrange for the most attractive float in the parade if possible, and it is the intention of the Chamber of Commerce to pay the expense and in turn to ask the public spirited individuals and business men of Mexia to defray same which will be small.

The arrangements perfected so far are as follows: the automobile will be a large five passenger car capable of holding as many as eight with three on the front seat and five in the rear of the tonneau. This automobile will be decorated in the national colors, red, white and blue, and will be nicely covered with decorations. It is the plan to fill this automobile with a delegation of business men and it will bear a sign on each side, "Greetings from Mexia."

By courtesy of J. M. Kennedy commissioner of precinct No. 4 a large three-ton truck has been placed at the disposal of the city of Mexia and this truck will be made into a float representing a boat, capable of holding as many as 30 to 40 people and it is confidently expected that it will be the most attractive float in the parade. It will be decorated in the official semi-centennial colors, which are gold and white, and it will bear a large sign on each side of the float giving the legend "Mexia, the City of Churches and Schools."

It is the plan of the secretary that each one of the churches of the city be represented, by at least three people which may be either ladies or gentlemen, and it is the intention to ask the public school board and faculty to have the Mexia schools represented by at least 20 people from the faculty and the student body. It has been suggested that the students representing the schools range in age from seniors in the high school to the primary department. The committee intends to have some ribbon badges printed for the Mexia people to wear on this occasion.

As previously stated business firms who want to put floats or cars in the parade and want to distribute advertising matter will be highly welcomed. Letters are going out from the office of the Chamber of Commerce on Saturday to the superintendent of the school, the president of the board, the pastors of the different churches in the city and others, inviting them to have delegations in this parade.

The automobile and truck referred to will be delivered to the decorators on Monday morning and the Chamber of Commerce assures every citizen in Mexia who may go to Groesbeck that they will have no cause to be pained of the Mexia float in the parade.

It is particularly the wish of the Committee to induce the Elks Band to enter this parade as they believe this would be one of the biggest boosts that Mexia can possibly get, because these boys dressed up in their purple and white suits dispensing the class of music of which they are capable, would be a "knockout."

Negro Kills Three Men Wounded Nine Others Shot By Machine Guns

DREW, Miss., Dec. 15.—Joe Pullen, negro, who shot and killed three white men and wounded nine others, died from machine gun bullets while lying in the street this morning while large crowds milled around, threatening lynchings.

Pullen was trapped at midnight in a drainage ditch after a 16 hours chase. A machine gun was turned on his improvised fortress, and he was wounded by many bullets. He was dragged to the main street of the town and left to die.

Pullen shot and killed W. T. Sanders, ap lanter, when the latter attempted to collect rent. A posse hastily organized and pursued the negro, who barricaded himself in a drainage ditch and stood off the posse, killing two and wounding nine. Three of the wounded may die.

Program Completed For Open House At High School Monday Night

On Monday evening, December 17, at seven o'clock, the new high school will have its formal opening for the benefit of the citizenship of the town. The first hour of the evening will be devoted to a general reception. The teachers will be in their respective rooms and visitors, especially parents of students, are urged to become acquainted with them and their work. At eight o'clock, the company will gather in the auditorium for the following program: I. Numbers by the Glee Club. II. Brief Addresses by Representatives. Citizens. III. One Act Play. IV. Calisthenic Exhibit. At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Armstrong will receive the guests in the cafeteria, where she promises "to put a good taste in their mouths."

REPRESENTATIVES IN CONGRESS ENGAGE IN MAJOR BATTLE FOR PLACES ON RULES COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—A major battle between progressive and conservative forces of both republicans and democrats is under way behind closed doors in the House over the control of the Rules Committee. Wm. J. Bryan is urging the democrats to support a progressive for a place on the committee. Democrats were promised five places on the committee instead of four, but the progressives want their man on all so. The outcome of the battle is uncertain.

HIGH OFFICIAL GIVES TESTIMONY IN TRIAL

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 15.—The first high official of the Klan to testify at the Fox trial took the stand. Paul S. Etheridge, chief counsel of the imperial palace, said Fox expressed great interest in the outcome of the suit for receivership for the Klan brought recently. Mrs. Margaret Weaver, the woman mentioned in the case, is expected to testify this afternoon.

CLEMENCY GRANTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—President Coolidge commuted the sentences of thirty one political prisoners remaining in federal jails. Clemency was unconditional. As soon as the documents can be delivered to the wardens of the prisons the men will be released.

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER ARRESTED FRIDAY

A man was arrested in the city Friday on a charge of bootlegging. The Sheriff's department made the arrest. The accused was placed under a $1000 bond to wait the action of the Grand Jury.

of four each wearing his fez would add to the parade, and it is certainly going to be an occasion long to be remembered in the annals of Limestone county.

Readers of the News are requested to bear this celebration in mind, as the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will likely be out of the city for two days the coming week on highway business, and therefore will not be able to contribute his share to the publicity.

TEXTILE MILLS MEETING IS SCHEDULED FRIDAY

Appropos of the sermon "Persistance Personified" so effectively rendered at the Salesmanship Club Banquet Friday night by Rev. Joe Jeffers, comes the announcement of the Chamber of Commerce that P. M. Keller of Belton, Texas, accompanied by Mr. Hunter an eastern capitalist, will be in Mexia on Friday, December 21st in the interest of the building of the Mexia Textile Mills. It is not the plan to have big publicity given to this occasion, as the session will be largely executive, but anyone in Mexia interested in the cotton mill development will be welcome at this meeting. The time and place will be given later and anyone desiring to come will be welcomed.

Mr. Keller was in Mexia some two weeks ago and an executive meeting was held with the cotton mill committee of which J. K. Hughes is chairman, but no wide publicity was given the meeting, as both the committee and the Chamber of Commerce desire to withhold any special line of publicity until some definite plans have been agreed upon.

THE WEATHER

East Texas.—Sunday generally fair and slightly warmer in east and south. West Texas.—Sunday generally fair; not much change in temperature.

Mrs. Mahoney Chosen Woman On Committee

DALLAS, Dec. 15.—The democratic state executive committee adopted a resolution endorsing Governor Pat Neff for president at the morning session.

Waco was chosen as the Convention City.

The National Committee woman selected was Mrs. Nora Boren Mahoney.

By a vote of 25 to 3, with two not voting, the committee declared Neff, the "safest, wisest and strongest leader" in democracy today.

On The Way Down Town

By SLYBOOTS

Saturday is pay day at the News Publishing Company, and since there are about 25 others on the pay roll of this institution—the largest pay roll any establishment or single industry in Mexia has a little bit more than usual to avoid the rush on George. He pays off, since W. K. took Walter Jr. to Terrell to tell his grandparents what he wanted Santa to bring him. Since I was early, I thought it would be time well spent to go to the baseball park and see what kind of an impression Pat Patterson made on landing there Friday night. Since he's a jeweler I thought sure he would land on the diamond in Gusher Park. But he didn't. The diamond is still there and I'm hoping will be there with all the Gushers the law allows attracted to it when baseball season opens. He failed to make any impression whatever on the baseball grounds.

Then, I came on downtown and found so much mud on the pavement that I decided he landed from his flight from Dallas in the business district and splattered the "black puddin'" all over everything.

At Commerce and Sherman streets, I slowed down, to see if the way was clear and listened to an argument over the 18th amendment, engaged in by District Attorney Chester Machen, George Petty, Ben Hunt and others. The argument was a dialogue, with Machen in control.

John Phillips stopped right behind me and I had to tell him why The News was short on oil Friday. He offered the inspiring information that Groesbeck would soon have an oil field, closely followed by Bazette. So it was that the subject changed from Constitution to oil, and there's a question in my mind at 9:00 o'clock Saturday night, twelve hours later, as to what they are talking about now. They are yet on the corner, augmented by Bud Kerzee, John Melton and Bill Keeling. I saw Chief Thompson headed toward the bunch, about that time, so I came on in to write the story. I reckon he's thinking about protection for the Salvation Army pots that have been set up on the corners and which are jingling with coins that are to help spread the gospel of peace on earth and good will to all Mexia this Christmas—if the Chief gets there in time.

The Westminster Girls Basketball team scored another victory last Friday afternoon by defeating the Teague team by a score of 17-3.

Colonel Humphreys Tenders Banquet At Dallas to Rotary Anns and Rotary Members from Mexia and Elsewhere

One of the most delightful dinner parties ever served in Texas was served in the English Tea Room of the Adolphus Hotel Friday night, December 7th, when a small party of friends were the guests of Col. A. E. Humphreys on the occasion of the presentation to him of a gold card from the Mexia Rotary club, which card attests Col. Humphreys election as President Emeritus of the Mexia Rotary club and Honorary member for life.

Col. Humphreys, who had been notified of this action on the part of the Rotary club, had been on the coast of south Texas on a duck hunt, and stopped off at Dallas on his way to New York. On arrival in Dallas early Friday, he called the secretary of the Rotary club and gave him a very hurried list of guests that he would like to have from Mexia, and they were invited to the dinner party. The secretary states that on his arrival in Dallas, the Colonel expressed regret that he could not have had more time in order that he might have had a larger number of the members of the Rotary club, saying that, in fact, he would like to have had every member of the club. But in the rush to finish a large volume of business in Dallas on Friday, and in an effort to leave as early as possible for New York, the affair, while a very delightful one, was gotten up rather hurriedly. Col. Humphreys sent his greetings to every member of the Mexia Rotary club, saying that some future day he expected to have another party with all present.

At seven o'clock on the evening of December 7th, the crowd gathered at the Adolphus hotel and were conducted to the English tea room where the host, Col. Humphreys, entertained the following list of guests:

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beeler of Dallas. Mr. Do Wolfe, of the Boyd Oil Co., Dallas. Mr. Julius Fols, New York. Col. Louis J. Wortham, Fort Worth. Mr. Frank Cox, Charleston, W. Va. Judge J. B. Means, Tulsa. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Desenberg, Mexia.

Rotarians, J. W. Elliott, Hardie Eubanks, Fred Kerzee, Ben F. Stollenwerk, Ernest Watson, Judge W. M.

Davidson Urges System In Government In Address Before Clubs Of Mexia

A tribute to American soldiers who engaged in the great world war featured the opening of the address by Lieutenant Governor W. T. Davidson, and candidate for Governor in 1924, of Marshall, when he spoke for 45 minutes Friday night at the banquet of Mexia luncheon clubs, at which he was honor guest and the speaker of the evening.

This tribute was paid after he had expressed his appreciation of the opportunity to be present on the occasion and of his cordial reception at Teague and Fairfield where he also spoke Friday, as well as here.

"Mexia is truly a great place" he said at the outset, referring to the spirit that had built her fine churches, great school buildings, beautiful paved streets and well kept residential stretches.

During the day he probably spoke to 3,000 people in this section. In the afternoon he addressed the 2,000 school children in the Ward and High Schools made an address before a good roads gathering at Fairfield and at 6:15 delivered fifth address of the day at Teague, coming here for the sixth.

Only one reference was made to his candidacy in the address before the civic luncheon clubs, the Mexia Lions, Salesmanship club and Nowlin Post of the American Legion. That reference was merely by way of parenthesis, while speaking in regard to his candidacy several years ago for the State Senate from his district. He mentioned that all opponents got out of the race, then throwing in the remark that he wouldn't object if this practice was followed in the present gubernatorial race.

His address was received with enthusiasm, as it dealt with problems of the community of Mexia, as well as with the needs of the state. His subject was Good Roads and Good Schools. However, only a brief few words were made in reference to schools, on account of the lateness of the hour when he began to speak, going into the subject or roads more thoroughly. His address included a tribute to American soldiers in the world war; the need of system in government taxation; pardoning power and good roads. He was followed closely by an attentive audience, outbursts of applause noted frequently.

He said in part:

Sporadic Action in Government.

The primary purpose of government is the protection of life and property. This protection is assured by a government certain in its functions. (Continued on Page Four)

Colonel Humphreys Tenders Banquet At Dallas to Rotary Anns and Rotary Members from Mexia and Elsewhere

White, Joe Arrington, and Mac McIntosh of the Mexia Rotary club. Rotary-Anns, Mesdames, J. W. Elliott, W. M. White, Ben F. Stollenwerk, Ernest Watson and Miss Frederika Karner.

The colonel, of course, took the head of the table as the host and Rotarian Ernest Watson was accorded the place of honor at the other end. The dinner while it embodied a very elaborate bill of fare, was entirely informal, and rather like a gathering of a family or a bunch of intimate friends.

The menu was the best that the caterers of the Adolphus hotel knew how to provide. The principal meat course being the bag from the colonel's "high gun" on the Texas coast, namely canvass back duck.

After the dinner, Fred Karner acted as toastmaster and made a few brief remarks, then called upon Ben F. Stollenwerk as secretary of the Rotary club to present the gold card in the absence of President Albert H. Berry, who planned to attend but was prevented at the last moment by some emergency business. Col. Humphreys responded to the presentation of the card very feelingly, stating that he would always prize it as a memento from his Mexia friends. In fact, so appreciative was the colonel that he could not control his voice, and he finished his expression of appreciation later in the evening.

Telegrams were read from A. H. Berry, president of the Rotary club, expressing regret at not being able to attend and extending expression of good will and friendship.

A telegram from Blake Smith was also read and highly appreciated by the host and guests of the evening; Blake was also prevented from attending by urgent business.

Following the response of Col. Humphreys, Fred Karner as toastmaster in a most happy way, called on each one of the gentlemen present who made some brief remark on the spirit of the occasion and returned feelingly to Col. Humphreys' citizenship of Mexia. However, it remained for two of the ladies, Rolray-Anns Elliott and White to make the most graceful and most expressive speeches, both at the same time denying that they intended to

Minstrel Won Approval Of Audience

About 250 people witnessed the Shrine Charity Minstrel at the Opera House last Thursday night. The weather man having threatened a closed house for the occasion eliminated the rain on the morning of the 13th and substituted therefore, a real cold night. This sudden shift on the part of the weather man was apparently responsible for the house not being packed to its capacity.

The performance was pronounced as success and the efforts put forth by those who, without recompense, gladly gave of their time and mostly on disagreeable nights at rehearsals, deserve public mention and recognition; as every one who participated were working for sweet charity's sake.

The success of the show was due in a large measure to the earnest efforts of Mrs. E. M. Strange, who so gladly directed the musical part of the program and who with Mr. Geo. H. Bell contributed a musical number that would do credit to the stage of some large city.

Those who took part in the minstrel were as follows:

Interlocutor, Mr. Albert H. Berry, Musical Directress, Mrs. E. M. Strange, Girls quartette, Mrs. Sam B. Werner, Misses Hazel Fielder, Wretha Merral, Georgia Hoover.

Male quartette, Messers. Littman, Samford, Bell and Beene. End men, Ben F. Stollenwerk, Frank Bolton, Frank P. Werner, Marvin Webb, Monkey Hitt and Rodney Tidwell.

Black face impersonator, Miss Virginia Rollins. Macician, E. L. Crow, assisted by Bliss Albright.

Slack Wire Artist, Major N. P. Houx Solo dancer, Miss Margaret Beeson. Popular song hit, Mr. Carlos Clover. Noble Jimmie Allard of Jimmie Allard Company contributed an act to the show that was well received and applauded.

Bobby Warren of the Bobby Warren Stock Company made a brief curtain announcement; extending the thanks of the Shriners to the audience and calling attention to the fact that the exquisite evening gowns worn by the young ladies in the show were loaned by Mrs. W. A. Everett; in addition to which he announced his own program for the balance of the week.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Elks Orchestra of which Mr. Charles Clover is its leader.

After all expenses were deducted, including opera house and other incidentals, the Shrine Charity committee of which Mr. Berry is chairman tendered a check for $100.00 to the Salvation Army, being the net proceeds of the show; with instructions that same be used strictly for local charity in Mexia. It is understood that other clubs in the city are contributing to local charity through the Salvation Army who are better prepared to get the best results and make the money go further than if it had been distributed by the Shriners themselves.

Mrs. J. A. Herring of Dalas was in the city Saturday.

make a speech. The crowd dispersed about 10 o'clock and all voted it one of the happiest occasions they had ever known. As evidence of his appreciation of the gold card tendered him, which was hand engraved and an exact duplicate of the regular form of Rotary cards, was the fact that just previous to his departure to New York he was last seen in the lobby of the Adolphus, displaying the card before of his friends. In his talk Col. Humphreys especially desired that good wishes be extended to his friends in Mexia, both in and out of the Rotary club, and that it be explained that the entertainment in Dallas was a badly gotten up affair and that they intended to

THEY WHISTLED AS THEY WORKED

A keen observer a few months ago visited a large broom factory. The workers were young men, vigorous and quick. Many of them whistled as they handled the brooms. There was an air of gladness and light about the factory.

But every worker was blind, a victim of the war. Some of us with two good eyes are inclined sometimes to complain at the difficulties which seem to block our way, but suppose we were unable to see.

Each of us has his own trials to bear, but thousands of persons in Mexia have discovered that their burdens are lighter if they accept the offer of Jesus and seek the protection of his care.

"Come unto me, all ye who are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest," is His promise, and none of His many promises has ever been broken.

Every church worth the name teaches the promises of Jesus and through their application to present conditions helps to clear understanding of their import.

Go to some church today and learn the permanent cure for blues.

DEVELOPMENTS OF PUBLIC HEALTH LABORATORIES.

"The establishment of public health laboratories is closely bound up with state and county health programs, and with the Board's policy of assisting in the creation of a balanced and complete equipment whereby those units can carry on the work that they are now by degrees assuming.

"The Board will co-operate on an increased budget with a number of states in the establishment or development of central laboratories, and with certain others in the development of branch laboratories. In Canada, preliminary surveys show the need of developing both laboratories and training institutes, especially in the central and western provinces. Support has been given to Guatemala and Salvador for the education of personnel for laboratory work. Arrangements are being made for the maintenance of laboratories in Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras, and Salvador. Plans have been discussed for the consolidation of the public health laboratories of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and their development as part of the Institute of Hygiene of the Sao Paulo medical school. In Colombia co-operation may be extended to the Government in initiating a public health laboratory service as an adjunct of the hookworm campaign. Through this means it is hoped that a wide popular interest will be aroused as the basis for government support.

"The public health laboratory in Manila, now a part of the Bureau of Science, is to be reorganized, and the Board is lending personnel. In Australia the program for the consolidation of state laboratories has been postponed because of economic depression, but plans have been made for a survey in 1923."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S STAND-PAT MESSAGE

President Coolidge's first message to Congress may be summed up from a Democratic viewpoint, as follows:

It is a standpat, reactionary message, bidding for the Republican presidential nomination in 1924, and for support of special privilege.

The President fails to express any sympathetic interest in the deplorable agricultural situation, nor does he offer any effective or permanent plan for the relief of the ruined or impoverished farmers. On the contrary he says, "for the most part agriculture has been successful."

There is not a paragraph in the message in recognition of labor and no remedy offered for high prices of everything except farm products—high coal, high freight rates, high rents, wholesale profiteering and the general high cost of living. The profiteering tariff, which is responsible for these conditions, is endorsed by the President. This tariff levies a tax of $4,000,000,000 a year on the people and $3,500,000,000 goes into the pockets of special privilege.

The President shows no real grasp or understanding of the real ills or needs of the country, either with respect to national or international affairs, but allies himself with the special interests responsible for most of the conditions about which the people are complaining.

As chairman Cordell Hull of the Democratic National Committee says, "The message will please the special interests and strengthen President Coolidge's chances for nomination, but there is not a single word of consolation or hope in it for the legitimate business man, the impoverished farmer, the laborer and other wage-earners or the average citizen who is bearing the burdens of government with no benefits, present or prospective, under Republican misrule in the interest of special privilege."

THE NEEDS OF THE LIBRARY

Libraries like roads must be maintained after their creation. The services of both are limited through inattention.

Without adequate provisions for their upkeep and constant improvement in a multiplying and growing community, they soon represent a sad spectacle of neglect and sooner or later become wrecks and ruins.

Lieutenant Governor W. T. Davidson urged in his address Friday night before the joint banquet of various civic luncheon clubs and the American Legion that no road should be built without provisions made then and there for its upkeep and maintenance. His idea, which is the idea of a wise citizenship everywhere, may be applied to many other public enterprises and institutions. Among them, The News suggests "the public library."

Mexia has a handsome public library. It is open part time and its shelves are partly filled. Hundreds are taking advantage of its opportunities every hour in which it is open. It needs further support financially in order for it to afford the highest possible public service. More funds would mean proper maintenance, a greater number of books and good literature, a larger number of patrons and the hours in which it is kept open could be increased.

When it was built funds were not raised for its future needs. This was not then a mistake, at all, for it was generally understood that it would be maintained properly following its construction and it was but natural for all donors to conclude that he and she were the ones upon whom the mantle of opportunity to properly support it would fall. It was built in response to a crying need. And now another need is presented in the call for adequate support to widen its scope of endeavors. With such a support it can easily be made into a community house for all classes and all sexes to gather for their improvement, education and delight.

Funds were offered by the citizenship here recently for a Y.M.C.A. It is to be deplored and is regretted that the Y.M.C.A. was not and will not be built. Those inspired to subscribe to that fund, at the time knew that ten per cent of their investment was to go into the Mexia Public Library. Those now here and who love to see character bloom and develop into the full beauty of manhood and womanhood and who know the value of good literature are presented an opportunity. Why not give at least 25 per cent of the original subscription to the Mexia Public Library, thus helping to make it a social and literary center combined.

AS THE PIPE ORGAN PLAYED

By OWEN FRIEND WATKINS

As the pipe organ played those dear old melodies
Of love and sentiment or quick or martial lay
I closed my eyelids down and dreamed in rhapsodies
Of all the vernal scenes the poet's words portray;
Of martial deeds of war or death's cold, cold embrace
Or vestal fireside scenes throughout the human race.

I saw the Highland Girl of Wordsworth's gifted hand
Around a thousand homes dispel the pensive gloom;
And Burns' enchanting themes of Scotia's happy land
Or Mary Magdalene beside the Savior's tomb;
And then familiar tones reveal the raptured charms
Of lover's holy tryst clasp'd in each other's arms.

Some old plantation tune would sketch the distant hills
With Nature's royal robes festooned on cliff and nook,
Or paint the verdured sward where waving daffodils
And pinks and lillies bloom along the babbling brook;
Or else some anthem brings fond visions back to me
Of moonlight on the beach beside the tranquil sea.

I heard the robin's call float on the silent breeze
And wake ten thousand birds to join the glad refrain,
Or in the harvest time the cricket's drowsy wheeze
Chimed with the cycle's hum amongst the golden grain;
Or when the twilight gloam had kissed the sylvan glade
The warbling nightingale would start his serenade.

On fields of bloody strife where heroes stood the test
And broke the tyrant yoke at Freedom's sweet command,
Where drum and bugle call would stir the dauntless breast
To meet death with a smile for love of native land;
Such glorious scenes arrayed the hosts of liberty
As the pipe organ played "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

I saw the end of time when soul of man ascends
To that celestial realm beyond the vaulted skies
And sings eternal praise to God whose love commands
Redemption's simple theme for home in Paradise,
As some old Zion hymn the light of fancy brings
Our souls to that abode where truth immortal springs.
Ah music hath the charms to sway the mortal breast
And touch immortal chords that swell to nobler aim,
Or sketch sweet nature's robes on vale or mountain crest,
Or sound the trumpet call in death or battle's flame,
Or bless the fireside scenes with hope and love essayed;
Such mingled scenes I viewed as the pipe organ played.

GUEST OF THE HEART

By Ben B. Hunt.

AN OPEN BOOK

These things, my friend, are solemn facts:
The currents of your thoughts and acts
Are plainly seen across your face
For all the world to boldly trace.
Your youthful days, were they unclean?
Their record in your face is seen,
Or if your thought was ever pure,
It left an imprint plain and sure.

There's not a deed that you have done
When not observed, at least by ONE;
That One, at least, will surely know,
And to the world the record show!
Your very eyes reveal your soul,
Flash forth to man an open scroll!
And from their flaming depths he reads
The story of a thousand deeds.

They tell of good, unselfish things:
Of Honor, Faith and Truth they sing;
Or else within their depths are found
The sins with which your soul is bound
Of Faith if you unworthy be
It's there for all the world to see,
And vict'ry you can never gain
'Til Honor's stamp is clear and plain.

When Shakespeare said, "No art can trace
The mind's construction in the face,"
He merely meant no one could read
The instant thought or instant deed.
But the artistic hand of Time
Weaves every thought or deed or crime
Into a picture on your face
For all the world to boldly trace.

If you are one who studies life,
Who's felt its joys and hopes and strife
Then you should know that all may read
Your every thought and hope and deed!
Don't forget—if you hope to win—
That life is more than sham and sin.
A purpose true and faith sublime
Will surely win—at harvest time!

CITIZENSHIP

-Thought for the Day

Everybody can eat turkey! reads editorial caption in the Breckenridge American. Another misstatement of fact. Markham of the Torrells can't eat turkey because he can't grow it. Neither can we—Miller in Mineral Wells Index. As you can enjoy turkey. The turkey is always fine, to say nothing of the dressing, and then in a few days the "leavings" make splendid soup. It doesn't require teeth in order to enjoy turkey.

Out of thousands of quarts of liquor seized by officers in various parts of New York, and examined by the official chemist, only two were found to be not moonshine and free from diabolical poison. This—without any scientific sense or regard for law—could be sufficient to stop the drinking of bootleg booze, because of its danger to life.—Breckenridge American.

But did you ever stop to think that a lot of people who drink the poison off hardly ever read and do not know what the stuff is made of, and not seem to care.

Our good friend Major Nick P. Houx has revived the Mexia Weekly Herald and will issue it regularly from now on. Major Houx was editor of that paper for many years. Some four or five years ago he sold it and last year it was allowed to suspend. Major Houx knows how to produce a live newspaper and now that he is back at the helm there isn't a doubt but what it will be on a firmer footing than ever—Ryan Eagle.

Thanks for the compliment.

In attempting to hold up a traveling man riding in an automobile near Austin a would-be bandit got run over for his pains. The incident suggests a new way of dealing with the hold-up man; instead of carrying guns for them to take, why not turn the cars on the wheels and flatten them out?—Denison Herald.

That's a good idea and if put into practice the speed mania may yet render a valuable service to humanity.

By sentencing those two Americans who were alleged tried to kidnap the draft evader, Bergdall, the Germans will stand to turn what little friendly sentiment there is for that nation in this country against them.—Greenville Banner.

Eleven million whiskey prescriptions were issued by doctors in twenty-seven states of the Union during the fiscal year just closing, the government says. Did you get yours?—Abilene Reporter.

No, we didn't get ours not the other fellows' either. Fact is we sometimes doubt if there is "any such animal."

A New York girl living in a swell hotel gave a "dinner" to a number of girl friends and when the waiters brought the check she jumped out of a sixth story window. That must have been a swell feed.

Every "founder" figure in his heart of hearts knows that some day he will want to get married and when that time comes, he says, he will pick out a girl who goes to Sunday school and says her prayers. He knows as well as anybody that this is the kind most likely to make a good wife. But as a rule he does not do it. The first thing he knows is a young woman of his own sort, day in and day out, and he finds her to be altar before he realizes what a going-on—a circumstance which serves him right and is a blessing to the Sunday school girl whom he might otherwise have wed. Letters from People

APPRECIATES CITIZENSHIP EDITORIAL FEATURE

Mexia, Texas, Dec. 11, 1923.
Mr. A. Garland Adair,
News Publishing Co.,
Mexia, Texas.

Dear Sir:
I want to pause on a busy day long enough to thank you for the splendid editorials from your pen which have been appearing recently in the Mexia Daily News.

Those published under dates of 10th and 11th, respectively are among the best I ever read and I consider them the equal of any ever written upon the subjects of loyal citizenship and love of country and regard for its laws.

These are times fraught with wonderful possibilities for the youth of our country, and yet times when conditions of mental and spiritual unrest make it necessary for those who can, to put forth their best efforts to guide them toward their rightful destiny.

It is truly a wonderful privilege to be an American Citizen—but more wonderful still is the privilege extended to all—to be GOOD American citizens.

Very cordially yours,
L. S. PATTERSON.

Mexia, Texas, Dec. 14th, 1923.
Mr. A. Garland Adair,
Editor Mexia News,
Mexia, Texas

Dear Garland:

I have been reading with much interest your articles on "Citizenship", in the News and I know of no other subject that could be better selected to write on and one that is more appropriate especially at this time, nor the men from whom you quote; surely our beloved ex-President and patriot, Theodore Roosevelt, is a good example of what true citizenship is and one whose life is an inspiration not only to Americans but to the world, and the world is better that he lived, his memory cherished by us all; nor do I know of a man more fitted to set this example than the Honorable R. E. L. Saner, President of the American Bar Association, one of the most distinguished gentlemen that ever graced a court room and a great Texan and our beloved State adds another to its Hall of Fame and has a great honor conferred upon it by having this great man to head one of the greatest institutions of the past, present and future, the American Bar Association.

Some people, seem to be under the impression that a lawyer is not interested in the ideals of his country, but only in making money and winning cases for his client, but justice and liberty, toleration and impartiality, is protected no more by any than its lawyers, and no criminal nor crook ever went to prison without the assistance of some lawyer, and notwithstanding this opinion, the legal fraternity is pledged not only by its very nature but by the oaths of its members when they are admitted to the courts, to respect and defend the laws of the country, and to safeguard its free institutions.

I truly appreciate these articles and sincerely wish that you will continue them indefinitely.

Affectionately yours,
FRANK A. BOLTON.

EASTERN STARS COMMEMORATE THEIR 25TH BIRTHDAY

On Wednesday evening at the Masonic hall, a reception was held, by members of the Eastern Star, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of Mexia Chapter. The honor guests of the occasion were the past matrons and past patrons.

Past matrons of the chapter are: Mrs. Mary B. Kemp, Mrs. Etta Adams, Mrs. Mary Beason, Mrs. Mary E. Mayo, Mrs. Minnie Ellington, Mrs. Jennie Richardson, Miss Ida McKenzie, Mrs. Etta White, Mrs. Eunice Denning, Miss Laura Rogers, Miss Julia Kauhl.

Past patrons are: Mr. R. J. Bryant, Mr. A. M. Stevens, Mr. Geo. Tidwell, Mr. H. C. Watson, Mr. W. M. White, Mr. Jno. Seale, Mr. W. R. Storey.

Due to the fact that the weather was very inclement, and in several homes there was illness, only five of the honor guests were present. Those were: Mrs. Eunice Denning, Mrs. Mary Beason, Mrs. Mary E. Mayo,

Mr. Jno. Seale and Mr. W. R. Storey. The hall was beautifully decorated with carnations and ferns. Baskets containing flowers appropriate to the colors of the points of the star were placed on each pedestal. The star points were: Miss Ida Trotter, representing the blue ray; Mrs. Walter Beaver, the yellow ray; Mrs. Perry, the white ray; Mrs. Sergeant, the green ray and Mrs. Lester, the red ray. The following program was rendered:

America.—By Assembly.
Lord's Prayer in concert.
Address of Welcome.—Worthy Matron.
Vocal Solo.—Mrs. Geo. Peyton.
Address.—Mr. Frank Bolton.

Instrumental Music.—Mrs. Sam Werner.
Immediately following the program the star points presented the guests with flowers from each station and extended greetings on behalf of the chapter. The conductress, Mrs. Durnaway, was then asked by the Worthy Matron to bring the birthday cake to the altar. The candles were arranged on the cake to form a star. Mrs. Beason lighted the candles, Mrs. Denning then blew the candles out and Mrs. Mayo cut the cake. A social hour followed and delicious refreshments were served to about forty guests.

What "He" Wants For Christmas Is Here at This Store

You know how men are about Christmas presents; they never tell you what they want, and yet they're pleased as can be when you get them something they really did want.

A store like this, where a man comes for his own purchases is the place for you to come to buy the things he wants.

Hart Schaffner & Mark Clothes if you want to do something unusually fine for him

We have lots of smaller things at a dollar and more—neckwear, gloves, hosiery, umbrellas, dressing gowns, bath gowns, men's jewelry, dress accessories—oh, lots of nice things that men of all ages really want.

Announcement

Pay Cash and Pay Less

Yes, that is what we mean. We are on the job now better to help you make more profit from your cattle, horses, hogs and poultry.

We pay cash for all our merchandise and we sell for cash. We can give our patrons better service and prices by eliminating losses from bad debts.

So Come on Folks—Let Us Do Business the Satisfactory Way

This policy is in effect on and after Jan. 1, 1924

Purina Chows are on the job to lower your cost of producing, gallon milk, dozen eggs, and feeding your horses and mules.

All we ask is a chance to figure with you—not just on the cost of feed but on cost of RESULTS. We will put the proof right in your milk pail, your egg basket or on your weight ticket. Purina Chows are delivering the proof day in and day out all over the country. They will do it for you. The Purina system of feeding challenges every feed system of whatever nature, home grown or commercial. The decision is to be based on your net profits. We are interested in nothing else. Our future business depends upon making good on that basis. Your profit comes first, then ours comes as a matter of course.

"PAY CASH AND PAY LESS"

Nothing is more disastrous and uncertain than sporadic action in governmental administration, and nothing is more expensive in the ancillary branches of government than an absence of systematic action. Under a despotic or under ancient patriarchal regime, the average criminal might receive one punishment, the favored criminal for the same offense no punishment at all, the obnoxious character punished without commission of any crime whatever. For centuries the intellectual constituents of government have striven for written laws and constitutional guarantees. In other words, for systematic action in government, for a penalty for crime that would apply as well to President Coolidge as the humblest laborer on your streets.

If there is need for system in the primary purpose of government, then there is equal need for system in the levying and collecting of the taxes. When the activities of our state government were simple, and the taxes light, we collected taxes largely almost altogether on an ad valorem basis, which reached the homes, farms, and ranches of the country. We haven't revised this system, although our burdens have increased four hundred fold. Today one rate may prevail in one county, and another rate in a different county, so that I may be abundantly able to pay my taxes, but the aged veteran, the country's pioneer, who like the widow and the orphan have no earning capacity, finds this tax burden to amount to almost confiscation.

In order to insure the child an equal opportunity in the school room, the tax for maintenance in one community to provide an eight or nine months school might be one hundred cents on the hundred dollars valuation, while in another to provide a school for the same length of time, it might be but five or ten cents on the one hundred dollar valuation. Yet the primary purpose of education is to wipe out illiteracy, and to secure to the child an education, not as a matter of charity, but as an insurance of democratic government.

The maintenance of the public free schools of Texas is a state problem and not one that should be shifted to communities and precincts. If you would have system you must have some uniformity. Every branch of the state government that is not functioning and worth one hundred cents on the dollar valuation to the citizen should be abolished, our expenses of government prorated among those in proportion to their ability to pay.

Roads
If I have any hobby it is that of road maintenance. I believe in the construction of good roads—certainly, but I believe much more in the maintenance of these roads after they are built. Scarcely a community in the state does not furnish an object lesson of men voting bonds in the form of a mortgage on their homes and property to build good roads, and these good roads have been in the course of two, three, or five years permitted to absolutely go to waste.

An elder statesman, speaking in a Democratic Convention in the years gone by used this prophetic expression: "If you will allow the people to vote bonds upon themselves to build roads in local communities, then provide that the roads shall last at least as long as the debt."

Multiplied millions of indebtedness exist for road construction, and there is no road left to show for the money that has been expended.

In a certain road district of this State some seven years ago, three hundred thousand dollars in bonds were voted by the people to build "permanent" roads. Splendid results were obtained, and the roads were well built of crushed rock and gravel, and when rolled, made a very desirable highway for the first twelve months; but there was no maintenance. At the end of this period they became bumpy and uneven. The third year they were filled with chug holes, and the fourth year the traveling public avoided them by getting off in the sand or mud on each side of the graveled highway. The fifth year the "repair" gang came by with a heavy steel grader, set the points of the grade into the sand and mud on either side of the road, and proceeded to conduct a funeral of all that was left of the gravel road, and the people have not seen it since; though more than thirty years of the bond issue is yet outstanding.

In another community, bonds were issued and roads were built, and traveling tourists were so impressed with the roads in this district that years afterwards one stopped to inquire and was given the following story: "The road over which you have traveled thirteen miles in length was built ten years ago of ordinary gravel,—not a very expensive road. Immediately after it was finished an old man with a dump cart was placed in charge of the road as a patrolman. He was given a supply of gravel. When a defect or uneven spot appeared, he poured on a bushel of gravel and smoothed it out. When ruts appeared from heavy traffic, he took an ordinary drag and rubbed them down. He sodded the sides of the embankments with grass, and though ten years have gone by, the road is in better condition today than it was the day it was finished."

Three years ago in the State Senate, I started an agitation for a road maintenance, and have kept it up ever since. I don't believe that a bond issue for any county to build roads should ever be approved or permitted as a matter of law, unless a systematic maintenance of the roads to be built is provided for.

The boys who returned from France tell us that every few miles the great French highways there was a patrolman with his wheel barrow and road material, constantly maintaining and looking after the road.

Three years ago we put through the first road patrol law in the State of Texas, known as the Davidson-Perkins Patrol Law. It is only in effect in a few counties in Texas, particularly Cherokee, Rusk, Harrison and Stephenson. You can see the effect of it by the time you strike the border of any one of these counties.

In the session of the Legislature just adjourned, the subject of road maintenance was dealt with, and the highway department of the State of Texas was directed and instructed to provide an efficient system of road maintenance for all of the major systems of highways in the State. The plan will be something similar to the Davidson-Perkins Act. When a highway has been finished or designated, it will be cut into sections like sections on a railroad. A competent patrolman will be selected in a manner something similar to the selection of a rural mail carrier.

Out of the automobile tax and gasoline tax, there will be set aside something like two hundred dollars per mile for road maintenance of all of the designated State highways. The patrolman will be instructed and advised in the most effective way of doing his work, and will proceed on the plan that a stitch in time saves nine, so that hereafter when a county votes bonds, all of that money that is spent upon State highways will not be permitted to go to waste, as so often has been done in the past, but the roads, like wine, will get better with age.

After this State patrol system has been put in effect, no county need fear to vote bonds or to build roads. If the money is spent on State highways, the State will take care of it. Of course, the system will have to be improved upon and perfected, and we may be three or four years improving it from time to time, but I feel safe in saying that it will take care of the roads from the very beginning.

I have always believed in the old maxim that those who dance should pay the fiddler, and this is the plan for the road maintenance of the State. The property tax payer should be called upon to build a road, but the men who travel it are hereafterwards expected to maintain it. This idea has another beneficial effect too, and that is the counties of small assessed valuation and with comparatively few motor vehicles, have not under the past methods, been able to maintain their roads even after they had built them. Take the road from Austin to San Antonio as an illustration, and though Hays County built up roads several years ago, she had no maintenance system and the road went to pieces.

When the State has taken over the maintenance of the highways, the tourists in Austin, San Antonio, and all the centers of wealth of the State will aid in maintaining that road through Hays County. Only in this way can we have a continuous system of highways, and the plan is equitable and fair.

The owner of the motor vehicle, be it local resident or tourist, will really save enough on the wear and tear on his car, and increased mileage for his gasoline, to take care of the roads that have been built and maintained.

Symphony Club Has Delightful Hour Saturday

The club met at the home of Miss Genevieve Hughes Dec. 8, 1923, where a delightful time was enjoyed by everyone. With Elizabeth Jones as leader. The program proceeded as follows: History of Violin.—Dorothy Brown. Life of Joseph Joachim.—Inez Calame.

Life of Mischa Elman.—Genevieve Hughes.

Life of Eppram Limbalest.—Martha Riddle.

Life of Maud Powell.—Josephine Wofford.

Life of Fritz Kriesler.—Margaret Smith.

Reading.—Carolyn Patterson.

Piano Solo.—Martha Mitchell.

Vocal Solo.—Marianna Murphy.

Duet.—Emma Jean Smith and Miss Ledbetter.

The guests were served to cake and ice cream and candy. Lovely little souvenir dolls were on each plate. The club adjourned to meet at the home of Elizabeth Jones, Tuesday night, Dec. 18, for a Christmas party.

C. P. Bazaar Is Planned Tuesday

The last but not least bazaar of the Christmas season will be given by the ladies of the Central Presbyterian church Thursday, the 20th of this month. The hour and the place will be announced later. They will have an assortment of articles both to eat and to wear, reasonably priced and extend an invitation to all to come and visit us, whether you have completed your Christmas shopping or not.

WE ARE ALL TIED IN WITH OUR COMMUNITY.

Mexia is the home of all of us who live here. Our comfort and happiness and prosperity is all involved with the welfare of the city—how good a place it is to live in and do business in. Every citizen and every business and industry in Mexia depends upon every other citizen and business and industry for equal responsibility in building this city to be what every good citizen wants it to be—a good city in every respect.

To accomplish this we must all work together with a spirit of tolerance and understanding. We must recognize that a good city is built by no single factor. Each business and industry and citizen must add something to the process of development.

Good electric service is necessary in the building of a good city. This company fully appreciates its responsibility. It seeks to cooperate with every other concern and every citizen of Mexia, so that its contribution to civic growth may be equal to the needs of the present and future.

COMMUNITY POWER & LIGHT CO. OF TEXAS

Plan to Recruit Building Workers

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—(United Press) Shortage of apprentices in the building trades is not due to American youths shying at manual labor, according to E. L. Bowman, educational director, national trade extension bureau, plumbing and heating industries. Reports throughout the country show the number of apprenticeship applicants exceeds facilities for training.

A survey of the American Contract or, builders' organ, has shown two popular misconceptions as to causes for shortage of building craftsmen. They are:

1. White-collar jobs are more popular.
2. Union leaders who profit by shortage of skilled craftsmen bar the necessary apprentices.

Employers are largely to blame for present unbalanced conditions union experts claim.

"Boys enter the period of apprenticeship expecting to receive training and experience to make them competent workmen," Bowman declared. "When they find they are to be used as cheap ditch-diggers, stock-clerks or truck-drivers, they drift away. Of the total number of boys entering into apprenticeship, only one in eight works into his trade."

Bowman's observations are said to be substantiated by experience in Chicago, Philadelphia and San Francisco, where experts from civic organizations have made surveys.

To Recruit Workers

Led by the National Association of Master Plumbers, most of the building branches have organized to remedy the situation. The following program has been adopted:

1. Appointment of an educational director to supervise apprentices in each industry.
2. Publication of text-books under supervision of trade experts.
3. Requirement of three months' pre-vocational training in public school.
4. Required night school attendance during the second and third years of apprenticeship.

A campaign against the manner of vocational instruction in some public schools will also be conducted by the craftsmen. It is asserted that many vocational courses in high schools are taught by women and there is much "mis-teaching."

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Boyd and W. K. Jr., left Friday for the week-end to be spent with her parents and other relatives at Terrell.

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS

Mexia, Texas, Dec. 13, 1923

Dear Santa Claus:

High School Honor Roll Announced

JOY ADAMS LEADS SECOND TERM WITH AVERAGE OF 96

Assembly, 1923-24

On Thursday of the past week one of the most interesting assemblies of the term was held and very much enjoyed by the student body. The purpose was to honor the students in high school who had made an average of 90 percent for the past six weeks' work. The pupils having these averages are listed below. The highest average was made by Joy Adams with an average of 96 percent and she was followed closely by Pauline Stephens with an average of 95 percent. There is a decided increase in honor pupils since the last six weeks and Mr. Andrews expressed his sincere hope and belief that more pupils would be added at the end of each six weeks work.

Honor Roll for second term:

Edward Allen,
Machon Forrest,
Rollin Maxwell,
Joy Adams,
Dorrie Lloyd Bowers,
Clara Belle Bybee,
Lola Cochran,
Hazel Cox,
Opal Hale,
Beulah Hill,
Hazel Horn,
Elizabeth Jones,
Marianna Murphy,
Pauline Stephens,

Market Day For Foods II Class On Last Tuesday

By JESSIE MAE SHERRER

On Tuesday, December 11, the girls of the Foods II Class visited a household market in the business district of Mexia. To study the art of cutting meat, and understand what each cut is for, was the purpose of this outing. Not only were the girls given a lesson in how to find each cut of meat, but they were also given a lesson in how to select the meat for their luncheon and dinner.

The girls were personally shown this visit by the butcher, and each of them appreciated the time and work given them by the butcher of Foods II.

Lieutenant Governor Addresses Students of High School Here

Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson addressed the student body of Mexia High School Friday afternoon. He was introduced by Superintendent Puckett. Mr. Davidson's message was one of democracy. He stated in the beginning that happiness is the evidence and fruits of constant usefulness, later emphasizing the importance of definite purpose in life. Success, according to Governor Davidson, is not a matter of rank and position but comes from honest and well done work.

Celebrity

MARGUERITE FRANKS

Everyone in high school will agree with me in saying that the girl who is called on to do any work and always responds willingly, who has a smile for everyone and who holds one of the most important offices in school, editor-in-chief of The Black Cat, is Marguerite Franks.

Marguerite came to Mexia High School from Gatesville. In Gatesville she had many important offices.

Girls' Athletics

By MARIANNA MURPHY

This is the first year that there has been systematic work in Physical Education in the Mexia High School. There is a growing demand that instruction along this line be given in all public schools. If it did nothing more than to teach children to sit, stand, and walk correctly, it would be worth the money expended upon it.

The course in this school covers first of all the gymnasium work which consists of setting-up exercises, all kinds of marching, Indian clubs, and folk dancing, all done in rhythm and to music. In addition we have basketball and volley ball. These games foster a love for good sport and the right spirit in work and play. The work is closely supervised by the competent instructor, Miss Anne Earle.

Physical growth involves the use of much energy as well as the lengthening of the nerves, muscles and bones. During late childhood, the heart is growing fast, but remains weak for a time. Physical training helps to strengthen one's physique where it most needs strengthening.

Basketball is uppermost in the minds of athletic enthusiasts at present. This game requires a highly developed skill derived from the training in simpler games. We will have interscholastic games later in the season.

A district meeting of Cornish poultry breeders in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana will be held in the State Fair poultry building, Dallas, Dec. 28-Jan. 1, during the annual show of the Premier Poultry Association, it is announced. An automobile is offered as a special prize for the winner of the premium for the best pen of fowls shown.

J. H. Miller of Greenville was a Mexia visitor Thursday.

ing that we made no mistake in electing her as editor of our magazine and comic editor of the Aixer, the high school annual.

Marguerite is good not only in her literary work but is popular with the whole student body. She is a friend to everyone and I believe everyone is a friend to her. She has done exceptionally good work on both The Black Cat and the Aixer, and we know that she is the right girl to fill the place.

WHAT THEY THINK ABOUT US

By CHARLES WOFFORD

That Foods II Class is some peppy bunch. They work hard on the 'least little hunch. For instance, their instructor, Miss Parker, by name. She has time to find notes, but she works just the same. What she says goes with no hesitation. And in each Me-Hi News you'll see her name in publication. She's always planning luncheons or dinners or something like that. The girls prepare them, and to them doff our hat.

Farker House rolls and baked turkey hen.

Salads and soups, and Oh, man! then your favorite dessert, just the way you like it.

When finished just retire to the parlor and coffee awaits you to. All you have to do is talk or drink or whatever you please.

For the girls are at you bidding, humble on bended knees.

That's all. And then you enjoy your smoke.

Oh, you'll have to admit these are real peppy folk.

The insignia which appear on today's Me-Hi News signifies that Mexia High School is a full-fledged member of the Texas Interscholastic Press Association. Membership in the organization was granted to Aileen Tittle and Eugenia Mullens, delegates to the convention at Belton last weekend, and comes through virtue of the three student publications.

REPORT ON TRIP TO BELTON

Aileen Tittle gave a detailed and interesting report Thursday at Assembly concerning the delegates' trip to the Interscholastic Press Association at Belton. Students and faculty heard with pleasure the description of the things which the Association stands for and encourages. While Mexia contestants were not successful in obtaining any of the offered prizes, they feel that the experience was very beneficial and that it will encourage inspire them in their journalistic attempts.

High School Is Complimented by State Inspector

Miss Charlotte Mayfield, inspector from the State Department of Education, spent Monday visiting the High School. On leaving she expressed herself as being well pleased with conditions in the school. Specifically she commended the equipment of the building and the courteous attitude of the student body to her as a visitor. Miss Mayfield stated that discipline in Mexia High School seems to be exceptionally good and that the boys and girls display good manners in the classrooms in the corridors. In her official capacity, Miss Mayfield has more than once been asked to suggest a typically progressive high school which might serve as a model for visitors, possibly officials in other schools. She remarked that she intends to recommend the Mexia High School as such a school.

Bagged A Buck And Hiked Home

J. D. Arrington, Roscoe Cook and Billy Wilson returned early Friday morning from a few days hunting trip in Burnett county on the Colorado river. They bagged a big buck shortly after arriving at the hunting grounds, and then made preparations to come home. Billy Wilson was the good shot that brought down the game. On the way home the hunters had to leave their car in Waco and ride the train, as the roads from here to Waco were out of banks and not negotiable.

Five Try But Only One Gets Away With It

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 14.—Five of the eighteen federal prisoners en route from Fort Worth to the Leavenworth prison, escaped from the Rock Island train near Caldwell, Kans. Only one conspiracy prisoner escaped although several were on the train. The train was stopped at Caldwell by a burning bridge which officers believe was the work of conspirators. Search is under way and it is believed that all will be recaptured shortly as they were handcuffed.

Bootleggers To Show Why They Don't Pay Taxes

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 14.—Under recent regulations of the internal revenue department, bootleggers in Texas have been given hearings in order for them to show why they should not be taxed on their products, federal agents said today.

The hearings, it was explained, have nothing to do with the criminal issue involved but are related strictly to collection of taxes on manufacture of intoxicants. Conviction on charges of making illicit liquor, however, has been taken as supporting proof that the manufacturer should pay the government the tax.

Inasmuch as the extreme penalty for failure to pay the tax is only a stiff fine and as the hearings are not mandatory, not many bootleggers have availed themselves of the opportunity, federal officers admit.

R. M. Edwards of Fairfield was a visitor here last Thursday.

High School Boy Admits Theft of 20 Automobiles

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—Rufus Pierson, 16 year old high school student arrested on charges of stealing autos, confessed he stole twenty cars within the last sixty days on orders of his father.

On the boy's story, his father, Wilfred Pierson, and a garage keeper, Clarence Phoenix, were arrested.

Rufus, police declared, was an instructor in a neighborhood "baby auto bandit" ring. Four youths were in a stolen auto when arrested.

Through A Woman's Eyes

By SADIE KIRGAN

A TEACHER

I have grown weary of doll chalk and dust,
And hurled my strength against a solid wall,
And bruised my heart o'er weary books and themes,
Seeming so far away from all my dreams
And yearning to go forth to youth's old call.

That has been—sometimes—but more often I
Have faced the little bodies—eager-eyed,
Thrilling beneath their faith—exultant pride,
To fashion, and create a world to be,
Napoleon himself had envied me,
Knowing my power, and God-given chance,
Greater than his—upon the fields of France.

Farmers Called On To Modernize Farm Homes

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 15.—"Light tennis, horseshoes, moving croquet, the lamp, the I just filled it with 'greenery'."

"Johns", beer in some water and wash; the stove is nearly cold, and I haven't anything to wash the dishes in."

These are words still in use on most of the farms of today.

The farms of the country are not modernized to the extent of making it according to a survey of Nebraska farm boys, the duties of both being frequently performed by the women of the house, according to a survey of Nebraska farm homes completed by the Nebraska College of Agriculture here, under direction of Prof. J. O. Rankin.

Answers to a questionnaire were received from 117,758 Nebraska farms, indicating that only 11,500 of this number or slightly more than 12 per cent are modern in water heat or lighting facilities, and only 2 per cent of the cut of fifty, are modern in all three.

Welfare or Wealth?

This is the way the feature professor sums up the report.

"Unfortunately, the attention of most farmers organization centers more upon wealth than upon the welfare which is their real purpose, especially during recent years when the loss of life in the world war and wide spread economic destitution and disruption have affected the economic situation in America. The farm homes so much more than in the homes of the city and other cities."

The questionnaire went into the minutiae of the farmers of today and arrived at results from the answer that might prove a valuable indication of the most serious for improvement, and about one sixth of the farm boys could report that they played indoor game with a frequency half of that of the city boys and one fourth of the city boys.

The rainbow chase at least gets a run for his money.

Why Novelists Go Into Distant Past for Today's Fiction

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Why are so many of the novels and movies written nowadays set in the dim and distant past when heroes wore ten-galton hats and heroines were not permitted to show their ankles?

Answer by Mrs. Inez Mayes Irwin, wife of Will Irwin novelist and war correspondent "Because it is so hard to account for the life of every character during the years of the war."

Speaking before a meeting of the National Women's Party here Mrs. Irwin commented upon the post war reaction which has manifested itself in nearly all fields of thought.

"I mark constantly in my own profession which is that of an author of fiction," Mrs. Irwin said, "how this tendency shows itself."

"A great interest has suddenly manifested itself for instance, all through the reading public in the past of American history. Perhaps some of you have seen Emerson Hough's film, 'The Covered Wagon,' and perhaps you have noted how thrilled audiences are by it."

It perhaps helps in this tendency of writers to go back into the past that almost any book of fiction of contemporary life which is not of the very instant has to account for the life of every character during the years of the war. This is a technical difficulty the limitations of which no layman can thoroughly understand."

Texas Teacher To Head School In Calcutta

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 15.—The call of India's millions has been answered by a Texas professor.

Dr. Asa Crawford Chandler, biology professor of Rice Institute, will sail about the first of the year for India where he will head the School of Tropical Medicine at Calcutta.

The school is supported by the British government supplemented by appropriations from wealthy planters anxious to conquer diseases that have long scourged India.

Dr. Crawford is widely known along biological lines having written several books on the subject. He has been at Rice since 1919 and previous to that was a member of the faculty of Oregon University. He will take his family with him.

Mexia Elks To Be Santa Claus to Kiddies

CHRISTMAS TREE TO BE GIVEN CHRISTMAS MORNING CHUCK FULL OF KIDDY GOODIES AND GIFTS

On Christmas morning at 10 o'clock a. m., the Mexia lodge of Elks, will have a beautiful Christmas tree for the poor kiddies of Mexia, and will give every kiddy a present and the other goodies that go to make this day to be remembered and appreciated, and do its best to inculcate in those who would be otherwise disappointed, the meaning of this great day.

Weather permitting, the Christmas tree will be held in the street in front of the Elks home, on North Sherman street, and if the weather is bad the tree will be in the lodge room on the second floor.

The lodge wants all of the poor children to come out to this event, and they will be looked after, and requests that all of the children whose parents, give them trees and presents not to form in the circle at the presentation of the gifts as this is to remember those that do not have these things.

U. S. Now Leads in Increase of Debt

GENEVA.—The United States is now leading the entire world in increase in public debt, according to a world-wide study just completed by the League of Nations.

Reduced to the basis of pre-war prices for the purpose of comparison America's public debt is now just thirteen times what it was before the war.

The English public debt comes next, with an increase of seven times over the pre-war debt, and France comes next, with an increase of only three times her pre-war debt.

One of the surprising developments of the league's investigation into the present status of public debts, however, is the fact that it is only in those two countries where the increase has been the greatest—namely the United States and Great Britain, that any substantial progress has been made towards the repayments of these debts.

According to the league's investigation, Finland carries off the palm for the smallest increase in her public debt; South Africa comes next, and then Switzerland and Sweden.

Wiped Out by Inflation Germany, however, is marked down as being about the luckiest country of them all, because of the fact that by her "kolossal" inflation of currency her public debt is practically wiped out.

Another interesting fact which the league investigation developed is that the loans issued by Holland, Sweden and Switzerland in the United States during 1919, 1920 and 1921 have since been virtually all brought back by wealthy individuals of those countries.

The league's investigation also covered the present status of the budgets of all the leading countries of the world. While it was found that a policy of severe retrenchment has been put into force in nearly all countries and heavy saving effected, nevertheless, the increase in the public debts of virtually all countries has swallowed up all that has been saved in cutting down administrative expenses.

The detailed report is now being sent by the league to all of the nations of the world as an indication of what progress is being made towards getting back to "normalcy."

Ship Load Texas Cotton To Sail From Houston

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 15.—Pursuing its policy of holding cotton on a large scale and saving many intermediate costs in marketing of the product, the Texas Farm Bureau Federation will ship an entire ship load of cotton from Houston on Dec. 20.

The Vessel, the Abercos, will sail with an entire cargo of cotton from the Long Beach plant of the Houston Compress Company for Liverpool England.

The ship will carry approximately 18,000 bales of Texas farmers' cotton which will be sold direct to foreign mills eliminating many intermediate costs.

If things fail to come your way, go after them.

WAXAHACHIE COUNTRY CLUB

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Dec. 15.—Plans for Waxahachie's new Country Club are rapidly assuming concrete form.

Bids have been asked for the construction of the dam of the club lake and the contract will be awarded within a few days. Work on the club house which will be one story of the Colonial style, will begin soon and plans have been completed for a nine hole golf course.

Vatican to Show Work of Catholic Missionaries in All Wild Sections

By CAMILLO CINAFARRA
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ROME, (By mail to United Press.)
Although the press has so far said very little about it and official communications have been, as usual, conspicuous by their absence, the fact remains that the Vatican is preparing a very unusual exhibition, and on such a scale as to make a permanent impression on all the tourists and pilgrims who will visit Rome during the coming jubilee, or holy year.

After the consistory, last May the Pope wrote to Cardinal Van Rossum, prefect of propaganda, to prepare a missionary exhibition for the purpose of acquainting the faithful with the doings of Catholic missionaries in all parts of the world, the results achieved and the work that is being done to initiate them into the complex mysteries of modern, civilized life.

As usual, the Pope's order was not discussed; a small committee was immediately formed and letters despatched to the four corners of the world, ordering the heads of the missions to collect the necessary material. The response was immediate and enthusiastic on the part of 400 missionaries stationed in Africa, Asia and the South Sea Islands.

A single Italian mission stationed in Africa applied for 3000 square meters of space which was reduced to 1,000 meters, as the available space does not exceed 23,000 square meters.

The exhibition will be divided into two branches, the scientific and the ethnographic. The first will house the maps of the districts where the missionaries are working, and will give complete idea of the country, the location of the tribes and the institutions established for their needs.

The ethnographic exhibition will prove the most interesting. According to the instructions issued to the missionaries, they must forward to Rome objects used by the savages in their every day life: tools of the different trades, idols, arms, furniture, cooking utensils, etc. For the larger objects, like huts, homes, boats, replicas on a smaller scale will be made.

Above all, the circular letter says, the missionaries should forward everything pertaining to the religions of the different peoples, like wooden idols, objects of worship, priests' frocks and replicas of places of worship.

The exhibition will be housed in the Pigna Court of the Vatican, where a pavilion will be erected at each of the four corners, and in the Vatican gardens, where other pavilion will occupy fifteen thousand square meters of space. Spread throughout the Pigna Court and the gardens, the visitors will find all the exhibits that can stand all kinds of weather. Cardinal Van Rossum directed that a fire house be erected nearby the Pigna Court and trained firemen recruited. Fire fighting apparatuses have also been purchased.

The exhibition will be opened to the public on December 26, 1924, and will remain open throughout the following year.

Methodists Ask Christmas Gift For the Japanese

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—The Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church announced a Christian appeal extraordinary in behalf of the Japanese Earthquake Sufferers. Under the joint auspices of the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Societies a Christmas offering will be taken in twenty-five thousand Methodist Churches on Sunday, December 23rd. It is for this offering that the Bishops make the appeal which is signed by Bishop Homer C. Stuntz of Omaha, Neb., and Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Boston, for the Board of Bishops. The appeal is made in behalf of the little children of Japan and the motto of the appeal is "What fell in a day, We'll build in a day." The Bishops appeal in part follows:

"The destruction of our property is far greater than the early estimates indicate, schools, Woman's Foreign Missionary buildings, residences, Publishing House, all have been terribly damaged or destroyed. Conservative place the losses at $1,650,000.

"The Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society could not be asked alone to make the replacement needed because of this dire tragedy. Hence all our connectional Boards, as represented by the Committee on Conservation and Advance and by the Executive Committee of the Council of Boards, unite in this call, and in the effort to which we summon the Church.

"The request is that all our Churches and Sunday Schools give generous offerings on Sunday, December 23, 1923, or, if this date be strictly impossible in any section on the nearest available Sunday.

"Our Japanese members on the Pacific Coast have already given with astounding generosity. Let the whole

"Let us not fail in this great endeavor. The little children of Japan wait for us to place them in the protecting arms of the Savior."

BOOZE WITH TEETH

MARLIN, Texas, Dec. 14.—Another reason for being wary of bootleg Christmas booze.

Metal tops of fifteen fruit jars filled with confiscated corn whiskey were found to be eaten away with lye when officers prepared to pour the liquor into the gutter.

Dempsey May Retire—No Contenders

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Jack Dempsey talks of retiring and going into business as soon as he has added one and a half millions to his fortune by fighting Tommy Gobbons, Harry Wills and Luis Angel Firpo.

The heavyweight champion means that he will be forced into involuntary retirement if he succeeds in keeping his million dollar chin out of the range of Gobbons, Wills and Firpo.

The heavyweight class is in such a state of decline that Dempsey will be forced to do a second number with Gobbons and Firpo, and if Wills gives him a good fight he might be able to work the colored challenger up into a "logical contender" for a return bout.

Looking over the contenders as they now stand, Dempsey might be believed sincere in announcing his intentions to retire because he would have no other contender to fight.

Any deductions of this kind, however, are made without giving credit to Tex Rickard. As long as Rickard is in the promoting business it can be bet that an annual contender will be developed for a title fight.

Some boys, are working for thirty a week, and some less, will find it hard to figure what Dempsey means by quitting the fight game and going into business.

Dempsey, it would seem, is now in the most remunerative business in the world. Right off hand there can be picked from the legal, medical, professional or commercial world no young men under thirty, without an education or any bracing up, who has made $700,000 for himself and $700,000 for his partner.

Dempsey has done that. In the business of swinging his fists and from the revenue incidental to the heavy-weight championship of the world, he has earned $1,400,000, and in taxes he has paid to the government at least one-fourth of that sum.

Anyone, under the circumstances, might be pardoned for asking: "What does he mean, going into business?"

Dempsey, we heard him say not so long ago, does not want to retire, unless it can be that he is in love and wants to get married.

The champion said when he was training for the Firpo fight that he intended to defend his title until he was no longer champion, as he was no more willing to cut off the revenue from the championship than any young man is to quit a job that means more than $100,000 a year without stepping into the ring.

Dempsey did say that he would never get married as long as he was the champion, and if he is so eager to get married he might as well, but with his $700,000 he'll need dough when he gets tied up and he'll have to go to work every day.

Like any young man who once had to go there and there on the huckle-beams and who many times had to get his food at back-guards, Dempsey might have a good idea about how much a dollar is worth and there is no evidence to lead anyone to the belief that the heavyweight champion does not take care of his money.

When Firpo was being panned and ridiculed for his brutal ways during his training for the Dempsey fight a good friend of Dempsey's remarked: "Why are they panning Firpo? Did anyone ever see Dempsey throw any thing away?"

Ex-Students Of T. U. Planning Big Year in '24

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 15.—Ex-students of the University of Texas have one of the largest programs before them for 1924 that they ever have attempted. This year will be a great one in the development of the Association," said Judge D. C. Bland of Orange, president of the Ex-Students Association recently when he was in Austin conferring upon plans for the stadium.

"The loan fund which is maintained for students is growing all the time. We have made it our motto that no student who has made respectable grades need leave the University because of lack of funds, if he is willing to borrow it.

"Dr. H. Y. Benedict's 'Perigrinus' which are being printed in book form by the Association are expected to be off the press immediately after Christmas. These 'Perigrinus' are short comments on affairs of students and faculty as well as of everything pertaining to the University that have been appearing in The Alcalde for several years. We are having printed 500 copies which will sell for 25 a copy, and the copies will be numbered and autographed. All proceeds over cost will go to the loan fund.

"The directory of all students and former students which is being compiled under the direction of Max Fichtelbaum is progressing rapidly and will probably be printed by the beginning of the summer."

Several members of the faculty of Westminster College were visiting in Mexico Friday. They were: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Denny, in charge of the Dormitories of the College; Miss Alma Johnson, head of the Commercial Department; and Mrs. C. H. Miller, head of the Department of History.

Strange Story Told By Two Alto Hunters

ALTO, Texas, Dec. 15.—Rivalling the spellbinding powers of Washington Irving in his "Headless Horseman" passage from "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," is the tale of two prominent men of Alto, told when they returned from a possum hunt in the Sabine river bottoms.

Their dogs, they say, presumably tired a possum and when they shook the tree something of great weight fell with a thud. Both hunters and dogs retreated, but later, gaining courage returned.

What appeared to be a headless horse sprang up at their approach and galloped off in the deepening gloom of the bottom-lands, they say.

Old timers, on hearing the tale, recalled the legend of an animal ghost which haunted the woodland years ago. This was the first time it has been seen close at hand, they say.

Rooming House Raided Where Game Goes On

Chief of Police Thompson raided a rooming house in the city Friday morning, interrupting a very interesting game of poker which was in progress in one of the rooms. He stated that the party was well equipped for business from light to padded table.

The Chief made the raid alone at 2 a. m. and arrested three men who immediately paid fines of $15.70 each. Score another one for the vigilance of the Police Department.

High School Press Announces Awards Made At Association

BELTON, Dec. 15.—One hundred School, was awarded second place in and fifty delegates from forty high schools attended the second convention of the Texas High School Press Association which met last Friday and Saturday in Baylor College, Belton.

Main Avenue High School, San Antonio, took first place in the three of the six contests which the association conducted. The Huisache, the newspaper, took the Houston Post loving cup; the Huisache, the annual, was awarded the A. Zeese Engraving Company loving cup, and John Canaday, editor of the newspaper, won a scholarship for the best written news story.

The Acorn, Oak Cliff High School, Dallas, was given the Southwestern Engraving Company loving cup for the best edited annual.

Napoleon Ballard, Livingston, won a scholarship for the best written editorial, and Joseph Jones, Amarillo, won the Star Engraving Company medal for the best written short story. The Tattler, of Mineral Wells High

Fort Worth, was second in the news story contest; Vivian Adams, Amarillo, third; Hyman Schafer, Brackenridge High School, San Antonio, fourth and Dorothy Brenner, Main Avenue High School, San Antonio, fifth.

In the editorial contest, Ruby Bronskie, Bryan High School, won second place; William Rosin, Brackenridge High School, San Antonio, third; Grace Stiles, Taylor, fourth; and Katy Garver, Livingston, fifth.

Jennie Mae Jackson, Sherman, took second place in the short story contest; Loren Drummond, Childress, third; Dorothy McGonigil, Central High School, Fort Worth, fourth; and Morton Hewlett, Taylor, fifth.

Nineteen schools were admitted into the association. They are: Celina, Brackenridge, Amarillo, El Paso, Childress, Whitewright, Livingston, Taylor, Le Grange, Heights Senior High School, Houston, Laredo, Mexico, Polytechnic High School, Fort Worth, Coleman, Waco Abilene, Ranger, Bryan and Memphis. Terrill Preparatory School, Dallas, was also admitted, but because it is an academy, it will not be permitted to compete with the high schools.

Powell Kelly, Waxahachie, was elected president of the association, for next year. Other officers are: Vice-President, Frances McLellan, Oak Cliff, Dallas; recording secretary, Sam Bashara, Wichita Falls; corresponding secretary, R. I. Tennent, Jr., Temple; treasurer, Marvin Griffith, Mineral Wells. The members of the executive board are: Fritz Kante, Taylor; Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth; Philis Fulk, San Antonio.

Beginning in January, the association will edit a magazine for the purpose of instructing the students how to put out better publications. This will take the place of the monthly bulletin.

The association will meet next year at Baylor College, Belton, December 4 to 6.

Some breeder of fine poultry is going to win an automobile at the Premier Poultry Association's annual show in the State Fair poultry building, Dallas, Dec. 28-Jan. 1. The association has offered the car as a special prize to the winner of the premium for the best pen of fowls exhibited. W. W. Brady, Allen, Texas, the association secretary, makes the announcement.

COMMITTEE ENDORSES NEFF FOR PRESIDENT

Groesbeck Plans Gala County Semi Centennial

Shriners Turn Over Charity Fund To Salvation Army

Mexia C. Of C. To Arrange Float For Parade

Great preparations are being made at Groesbeck for the Semi-Centennial celebration to be held on Thursday, December 20th. One of the best firms of decorators in the state of Texas has been employed for this decoration and the town is all ready to be decorated in flags and patriotic bunting from one end to the other, and on Monday morning the decorators will begin to make the floats in the parade.

A committee from the Mexia Chamber of Commerce visited Groesbeck on Friday and arranged to have a float and a decorated automobile in the parade. The committee composed of R. F. Babb, J. W. Prickett, Gene Sinclair and Ben F. Stollenwerck were instructed by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce to arrange for the most attractive float in the parade if possible, and it is the intention of the Chamber of Commerce to pay the expense and in turn to ask the public spirited individuals and business men of Mexia to defray same which will be small.

The arrangements perfected so far are as follows; the automobile will be a large five passenger car capable of holding as many as eight with three on the front seat and five in the rear of the tonneau. This automobile will be decorated in the national colors, red, white and blue, and will be nicely covered with decorations. It is the plan to fill this automobile with a delegation of business men and it will bear a sign on each side, "Greetings from Mexia."

By courtesy of J. M. Kennedy commissioner of precinct No. 4 a large three-ton truck has been placed at the disposal of the city of Mexia and this truck will be made into a float representing a boat, capable of holding as many as 30 to 40 people and it is confidently expected that it will be the most attractive float in the parade. It will be decorated in the official semi-centennial colors, which are gold and white, and it will bear a large sign on each side of the float giving the legend "Mexia, the City of Churches and Schools."

It is the plan of the secretary that each one of the churches of the city be represented, by at least three people which may be either ladies or gentlemen, and it is the intention to ask the public school board and faculty to have the Mexia schools represented by at least 20 people from the faculty and the student body. It has been suggested that the students representing the schools range in age from seniors in the high school to the primary department. The committee intends to have some ribbon badges pointed for the Mexia people to wear on this occasion.

As previously stated business firms who want to put floats or cars in the parade and want to distribute advertising matter will be highly welcomed. Letters are going out from the office of the Chamber of Commerce on Saturday to the superintendent of the school, the president of the board, the pastors of the different churches in the city and others, inviting them to have delegations in this parade.

The automobile and truck referred to will be delivered to the decorators on Monday morning and the Chamber of Commerce assures every citizen in Mexia who may go to Groesbeck that they will have no cause to be ashamed of the Mexia float in the parade.

It is particularly the wish of the Committee to induce the Elks Band to enter this parade as they believe this would be one of the biggest boasts that Mexia can possibly set, because these boys dressed up in their purple and white suits dispensing the class of music of which they are capable, would be a "knockout."

Negro Kills Three Men Wounded Nine Others Shot By Machine Guns

DREW, Miss., Dec. 15.—Joe Pullen, negro, who shot and killed three white men and wounded nine others, died from machine gun bullets while lying in the street this morning while large crowds milled around, threatening lynchings.

Pullen was trapped at midnight in a drainage ditch after a 15 hours chase. A machine gun was turned on his improvised fortress, and he was wounded by many bullets. He was dragged to the main street of the town and left to die.

Pullen shot and killed W. T. Sanders, ap lantern, when the latter attempted to collect rent. A posse hastily organized and pursued the negro, who barricaded himself in a drainage ditch and stood off the posse, killing two and wounding nine. Three of the wounded may die.

Program Completed For Open House At High School Monday Night

On Monday evening, December 17, at seven o'clock, the new high school will have its formal opening for the benefit of the citizenship of the town. The first hour of the evening will be devoted to a general reception. The teachers will be in their respective rooms and visitors, especially parents of students, are urged to become acquainted with them and their work. At eight o'clock, the company will gather in the auditorium for the following program:

- I. Numbers by the Glee Club.
- II. Brief Addresses by Representative Citizens.
- III. One Act Play.
- IV. Calisthenic Exhibit.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Armstrong will receive the guests in the cafeteria, where she promises "to put a good taste in their mouths."

REPRESENTATIVES IN CONGRESS ENGAGE IN MAJOR BATTLE FOR PLACES ON RULES COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—A major battle between progressive and conservative forces of both republicans and democrats is under way behind closed doors in the House over the control of the Rules Committee. Wm. J. Bryan is urging the democrats to support a progressive for a place on the committee. Democrats were promised five places on the committee instead of four, but the progressives want their man on all-so. The outcome of the battle is uncertain.

HIGH OFFICIAL GIVES TESTIMONY IN TRIAL

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 15.—The first high official of the Klan to testify at the Fox trial took the stand. Paul S. Etheridge, chief counsel of the imperial palace, said Fox expressed great interest in the outcome of the suit for reversion of the Klan brought recently. Mrs. Margaret Weaver, the woman mentioned in the case, is expected to testify this afternoon.

CLEMENCY GRANTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—President Coolidge commuted the sentences of thirty one political prisoners remaining in federal jails. Clemency was unconditional. As soon as the documents can be delivered to the dardens of the prisons the men will be released.

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER ARRESTED FRIDAY

A man was arrested in the city Friday on a charge of bootlegging. The Sheriff's department made the arrest. The accused was placed under a $1000 bond to wait the action of the Grand Jury.

of four each wearing his fez would add to the parade, and it is certainly going to be an occasion long to be remembered in the annals of Limestone county.

Readers of the News are requested to bear this celebration in mind, as the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will likely be out of the city for two days the coming week on highway business, and therefore will not be able to contribute his share to the publicity.

Mrs. Mahoney Chosen Woman On Committee

DALLAS, Dec. 15.—The democratic state executive committee adopted a resolution endorsing Governor Pat Neff for president at the morning session.

Waco was chosen as the Convention City.

The National Committee woman selected was Mrs. Nora Boren Mahoney.

By a vote of 25 to 3, with two not voting, the committee declared Neff, the "safest, wisest and strongest leader" in democracy today.

On The Way Down Town

By SLYBOOTS

Saturday is pay day at the News Publishing Company, and since there are about 25 others on the pay roll of this institution, the largest pay roll any establishment or single industry in Mexia, came a little bit earlier than usual to avoid the rush on George. He pays off, since W. K. took Walter Jr. to Terrell to tell his grandparents what he wanted Santa to bring him. Since I was early, I thought it would be time well spent to go to the baseball park and see what kind of an impression Pat Patterson made on landing there Friday night. Since he's a jeweler I thought sure he would land on the diamond in Gusher Park. But he didn't. The diamond is still there and I'm hoping will be there with all the Gushers the law allows attracted to it when baseball season opens. He failed to make any impression whatever on the baseball grounds.

Then, I came on downtown and found so much mud on the pavement that I decided he landed from his flight from Dallas in the business district and splattered the "black puddin'" all over everything.

At Commerce and Sherman streets, I slowed down, to see if the way was clear and listened to an argument over the 18th amendment, engaged in by District Attorney Chester Machen, George Petty, Ben Hunt and others. The argument was a dialogue, with Machen in control.

John Phillips stopped right behind me and I had to tell him why The News was short on oil Friday. He offered the inspiring information that Groesbeck would soon have an oil field, closely followed by Bazette. So it was that the subject changed from Constitution to oil, and there's a question in my mind at 9:00 o'clock Saturday night, twelve hours later, as to what they are talking about now. They are yet on the corner, augmented by Bud Kerzee, John Molton and Bill Keeling. I saw Chief Thompson headed toward the bunch, about that time, so I came on in to write the story. I reckon he's thinking about protection for the Salvation Army pots that have been set up on the corners and which are jingling with coins that are to help spread the gospel of peace on earth and good will to all Mexia this Christmas—if the Chief gets there in time.

The Westminster Girls Basketball team scored another victory last Friday afternoon by defeating the Teague team by a score of 17-3.

Davidson Urges System In Government In Address Before Clubs Of Mexia

A tribute to American soldiers who engaged in the great world war featured the opening of the address by Lieutenant Governor W. T. Davidson, candidate for Governor in 1924, of Marshall, when he spoke for 45 minutes Friday night at the banquet of Mexia luncheon clubs, at which he was honor guest and the speaker of the evening.

This tribute was paid after he had expressed his appreciation of the opportunity to be present on the occasion and of his cordial reception at Teague and Fairfield where he also spoke Friday, as well as here.

"Mexia is truly a great place" he said at the outset, referring to the spirit that had built her fine churches, great school buildings, beautiful paved streets and well kept residential stretches.

During the day he probably spoke to 3,000 people in this section. In the afternoon he addressed the 2,000 school children in the Ward and High Schools made an address before a good roads gathering at Fairfield and at 6:15 delivered fifth address of the day at Teague, coming here for the sixth.

Only one reference was made to his candidacy in the address before the civic luncheon clubs, the Mexia Lions, Salesmanship club and Nowlin Post of the American Legion. That reference was merely by way of parenthesis, while speaking in regard to his candidacy several years ago for the State Senate from his district. He mentioned that all opponents got out of the race, then throwing in the remark that he wouldn't object if this practice was followed in the present gubernatorial race.

His address was received with enthusiasm, as it dealt with problems of the community of Mexia, as well as with the needs of the state. His subject was Good Roads and Good Schools. However, only a brief few words were made in reference to schools, on account of the lateness of the hour when he began to speak, going into the subject or roads more thoroughly. His address included a tribute to American soldiers in the world war; the need of system in government taxation, pardoning power and good roads. He was followed closely by an attentive audience, outbursts of applause noted frequently.

He said in part:

Sporadic Action in Government.
The primary purpose of government is the protection of life and property. This protection is assured by a government certain in its functions. (Continued on Page Four)

Colonel Humphreys Tenders Banquet At Dallas to Rotary Anns and Rotary Members from Mexia and Elsewhere

One of the most delightful dinner parties ever served in Texas was served in the English Tea Room of the Adolphus Hotel Friday night, December 14th, when a small party of friends were the guests of Col. A. E. Humphreys on the occasion of the presentation to him of a gold card from the Mexia Rotary club, which card attests Col. Humphreys election as President Emeritus of the Mexia Rotary club and Honorary member for life.

Col. Humphreys, who had been notified of this action on the part of the Rotary club, had been on the coast of south Texas on a duck hunt, and stopped off at Dallas on his way to New York. On arrival in Dallas early Friday, he called the secretary of the Rotary club and gave him a very hurried list of guests that he would like to have from Mexia, and they were invited to the dinner party. The secretary states that on his arrival in Dallas, the Colonel expressed regret that he could not have had more time in order that he might have had a larger number of the members of the Rotary club, saying that, in fact, he would like to have had every member of the club. But in the rush to finish a large volume of business in Dallas on Friday, and in an effort to leave as early as possible for New York, the affair, while a very delightful one, was gotten up rather hurriedly. Col. Humphreys sent his greetings to every member of the Mexia Rotary club, saying that some future day he expected to have another party with all present.

At seven o'clock on the evening of December 14th, the crowd gathered at the Adolphus hotel and were conducted to the English tea room where the host, Col. Humphreys, entertained the following list of guests:

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beeler of Dallas.
Mr. De Wolfe, of the Boyd Oil Co., Dallas.
Mr. Julius Fohs, New York.
Col. Louis J. Wortman, Fort Worth.
Mr. Frank Cox, Charleston, W. Va.
Judge J. B. Means, Tulsa.
Mr. and Mrs. Julius Dezenberg, Mexia.
Rotarians, J. W. Elliott, Hardie Lubanks, Fred Kerner, Ben F. Stollenwerck, Ernest Watson, Judge W. M.

White, Joe Arrington, and Mac McIntosh of the Mexia Rotary club.

Rotary-Anns, Mesdames, J. W. Elliott, W. M. White, Ben F. Stollenwerck, Ernest Watson and Miss Frederika Karner.

The Colonel, of course, took the head of the table as the host and Rotarian Ernest Watson was accorded the place of honor at the other end. The dinner while it embodied a very elaborate bill of fare, was entirely informal, and rather like a gathering of a family or a bunch of intimate friends.

The menu was the best that the caterers of the Adolphus hotel knew how to provide. The principal meat course being the bag from the colonel's "high gun" on the Texas coast, namely canvas back duck.

After the dinner, Fred Karner acted as toastmaster and made a few brief remarks, then called upon Ben F. Stollenwerck as secretary of the Rotary club to present the gold card in the absence of President Albert H. Berry, who planned to attend but was prevented at the last moment by some emergency business. Col. Humphreys responded to the presentation of the card very feelingly, stating that he would always prize it as a memento from his Mexia friends. In fact, so appreciative was the colonel that he could not control his voice, and he finished his expression of appreciation later in the evening.

Telegrams were read from A. H. Berry, president of the Rotary club, expressing regret at not being able to attend and extending expression of good will and friendship.

A telegram from Blake Smith was also read and highly appreciated by the host and guests of the evening. Blake was also prevented from attending by urgent business.

Minstrel Won Approval Of Audience

About 250 people witnessed the Shrine Charity Minstrel at the Opera House last Thursday night. The weather man having threatened a closed house for the occasion eliminated the rain on the morning of the 13th and substituted therefore a real cold night. This sudden shift on the part of the weather man was apparently responsible for the house not being packed to its capacity.

The performance was pronounced as success and the efforts put forth by those who, without recompense, gladly gave of their time and mostly on disagreeable nights at rehearsals, deserve public mention and recognition; as every one who participated were working for sweet charity's sake.

The success of the show was due in a large measure to the earnest efforts of Mrs. E. M. Strange, who so gladly directed the musical part of the program and who with Mr. Geo. H. Bell contributed a musical number that would do credit to the stage of some large city.

Those who took part in the minstrel were as follows:

Interlocutor, Mr. Albert H. Berry, Musical Directress, Mrs. E. M. Strange, Girls quartette, Mrs. Sam B. Werner, Misses Hazel Fielder, Wretha Merral, Georgia Hoover.

Male quartette, Messers, Littman, Samford, Bell and Beene. End men, Ben F. Stollenwerck, Frank Bolton, Frank P. Werner, Marvin Webb, Monkey Hitt and Rodney Tidwell.

Black face impersonator, Miss Virginia Rollins.

Macician, E. L. Crow, assisted by Bliss Albright.

Slack Wire Artist, Major N. P. Houx Solo dancer, Miss Margaret Besson. Popular song hit, Mr. Carlos Clover. Noble Jimmie Allard of Jimmie Allard Company contributed an act to the show that was well received and applauded.

Bobby Warren of the Bobby Warren Stock Company made a brief curtain announcement, extending the thanks of the Shriners to the audience and calling attention to the fact that the exquisite evening gowns worn by the young ladies in the show were loaned by Mrs. W. M. Everett; in addition to which he announced his own program for the balance of the week.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Elks Orchestra of which Mr. Charles Clover is its leader.

After all expenses were deducted, including opera house and other incidentals; the Shrine Charity committee of which Mr. Berry is chairman tendered a check for $100.00 to the Salvation Army, being the net proceeds of the show; with instructions that same be used strictly for local charity in Mexia. It is understood that other clubs in the city are contributing to local charity through the Salvation Army who are better prepared to get the best results and make the money go further than if it had been distributed by the Shriners themselves.

Mrs. J. A. Herning of Dalas was in the city Saturday.

make a speech. The crowd dispersed about 10 o'clock and all voted it one of the happiest occasions they had ever known.

As evidence of his appreciation of the gold card tendered him, which was hand engraved and an exact duplicate of the regular form of Rotary cards, was the fact that just previous to his departure to New York he was last seen in the lobby of the Adolphus, displaying the card to some of his friends.

In his talk Col. Humphreys especially desired that good wishes be extended to his friends in Mexia, both in and out of the Rotary club, and that it be explained that the entertainment in Dallas was a highly gotten up affair and that he was very grateful to his good friends.

But did you ever stop to think that of people who drink the poison off hardly ever read and do not know what the stuff is made of, and not seem to care.

Our good friend Major Nick P. Houx has revived the Mexia Weekly Herald and will issue it regularly from now on. Major Houx was editor of that paper for many years. In attempting to hold up a traveling man riding in an automobile near Austin a would-be bandit got run over for his pains. Letters from People

Mexia, Texas, Dec. 11, 1923.

Mr. A. Garland Adair,
News Publishing Co.,
Mexia, Texas.

Dear Sir:

I want to pause on a busy day long enough to thank you for the splendid editorials from your pen which have been appearing recently in the Mexia Daily News.

Those published under dates of 10th and 11th, respectively are among the best I ever read and I consider them the equal of any ever written upon the subjects of loyal citizenship and love of country and regard for its laws.

These are times fraught with wonderful possibilities for the youth of our country, and yet times when conditions of mental and spiritual unrest make it necessary for those who can, to put forth their best efforts to guide them toward their rightful destiny.

It is truly a wonderful privilege to be an American Citizen—but more wonderful still is the privilege extended to all—to be GOOD American citizens.

Very cordially yours,
L. S. PATTERSON.

Mexia, Texas, Dec. 14th, 1923.

Mr. A. Garland Adair,
Editor Mexia News,
Mexia, Texas.

Dear Garland:

I have been reading with much interest your articles on "Citizenship," in the News and I know of no other subject that could be better selected to write on and one that is more appropriate especially at this time, nor the men from whom you quote; surely our beloved ex-President and beloved American, friend, and patriot, Theodore Roosevelt, is a good example of what true citizenship is and one whose life is an inspiration not only to Americans but to the world, and the world is better that he lived, his memory cherished by us all; nor do I know of a man more fitted to set this example than the Honorable R. E. L. Saner, President of the American Bar Association, one of the most distinguished gentlemen that ever graced a court room and a great Texan and our beloved State adds another to its Hall of Fame and has a great honor conferred upon it by having this great man to head one of the greatest institutions of the past, present and future, the American Bar Association.

Some people, seem to be under the impression that a lawyer is not interested in the ideals of his country, but only in making money and winning cases for his client, but justice and liberty, toleration and impartiality, is protected no more by any than its lawyers, and no criminal, nor crook ever went to prison without the assistance of some lawyer, and notwithstanding this opinion, the legal fraternity is pledged not only by its very nature but by the oaths of its members when they are admitted to the courts, to respect and defend the laws of the country, and to safeguard its free institutions.

I truly appreciate these articles and sincerely wish that you will continue them indefinitely.

Affectionately yours,
FRANK A. BOLTON.

EASTERN STARS COMMEMORATE THEIR 25TH BIRTHDAY

On Wednesday evening at the Masonic hall, a reception was held by members of the Eastern Star, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of Mexia Chapter. The honor guests of the occasion were the past matrons and past patrons.

Past matrons of the chapter are: Mrs. Mary B. Kemp, Mrs. Etta Adams, Mrs. Mary Beason, Mrs. Mary E. Mayo, Mrs. Minnie Ellington, Mrs. Jennie Richardson, Miss Ida McKenzie, Mrs. Etta White, Mrs. Eunice Denning, Miss Laura Rogers, Miss Julia Kaulh.

Past patrons are: Mr. R. J. Bryant, Mr. A. M. Stevens, Mr. Geo. Tidwell, Mr. H. C. Watson, Mr. W. M. White, Mr. Jno. Seale, Mr. W. R. Storey.

Due to the fact that the weather was very inclement, and in several homes there was illness, only five of the honor guests were present. Those were: Mrs. Eunice Denning, Mrs. Mary Beason, Mrs. Mary E. Mayo,

Mr. Jno. Seale and Mr. W. R. Storey. The hall was beautifully decorated with carnations and ferns. Baskets containing flowers appropriate to the colors of the points of the star were placed on each pedestal. The star points were: Miss Ida Trotter, representing the blue ray; Mrs. Walter Beaver, the yellow ray; Mrs. Perry, the white ray; Mrs. Sergeant, the green ray and Mrs. Lester, the red ray. The following program was rendered:

America—By Assembly.
Lord's Prayer in concert.
Address of Welcome.—Worthy Matron.
Vocal Solo.—Mrs. Geo. Payton.
Address.—Mr. Frank Bolton.

Instrumental Music.—Mrs. Sam Werner.
Immediately following the program the star points presented the guests with flowers from each station and extended greetings on behalf of the chapter. The conductress, Mrs. Dunaway, was then asked by the Worthy Matron to bring the birthday cake to the altar. The candles were arranged on the cake to form a star. Mrs. Beason lighted the candles, Mrs. Denning then blew the candles out and Mrs. Mayo cut the cake. A social hour followed and delicious refreshments were served to about forty guests.

Announcement

Pay Cash and Pay Less

Yes, that is what we mean. We are on the job now better to help you make more profit from your cattle, horses, hogs and poultry.

We pay cash for all our merchandise and we sell for cash. We can give our patrons better service and prices by eliminating losses from bad debts.

So Come on Folks—Let Us Do Business the Satisfactory Way

This policy is in effect on and after Jan. 1, 1924.

Purina Chows are on the job to lower your cost of producing, gallon milk, dozen eggs, and feeding your horses and mules.

All we ask is a chance to figure with you—not just on the cost of feed but on cost of RESULTS. We will put the proof right in your milk pail, your egg basket or on your weight ticket. Purina Chows are delivering the proof day in and day out all over the country. They will do it for you. The Purina system of feeding challenges every feed system of whatever nature, home grown or commercial. The decision is to be based on your net profits. We are interested in nothing else. Our future business depends upon making good on that basis. Your profit comes first, then ours comes as a matter of course.

"PAY CASH AND PAY LESS"

Nothing is more disastrous and uncertain than sporadic action in governmental administration, and nothing is more expensive in the ancillary branches of government than an absence of systematic action. Under a despotic or under ancient patriarchal regime, the average criminal might receive one punishment, the favored criminal for the same offense no punishment at all, the obnoxious character punished without commission of any crime whatever. For centuries the intellectual constituents of government have striven for written laws and constitutional guarantees. In other words, for systematic action in government, for a penalty for crime that would apply as well to President Coolidge as the humblest laborer on your streets.

If there is need for system in the primary purpose of government, then there is equal need for system in the levying and collecting of the taxes. When the activities of our state government were simple, and the taxes light, we collected taxes largely almost altogether on an ad valorem basis, which reached the homes, farms, and ranches of the country. We haven't revised this system, although our burdens have increased four hundred fold. Today one rate may prevail in one county, and another rate in a different county, so that I may be abundantly able to pay my taxes, but the aged veteran, the country's pioneer, who like the widow and the orphan have no earning capacity, finds this tax burden to amount to almost confiscation.

In order to insure the child an equal opportunity in the school room, the tax for maintenance in one community to provide an eight or nine months school might be one hundred cents on the hundred dollars valuation, while in another to provide a school for the same length of time, it might be but five or ten cents on the one hundred dollar valuation. Yet the primary purpose of education is to wipe out illiteracy, and to secure to the child an education, not as a matter of charity, but as an insurance of democratic government.

The maintenance of the public free schools of Texas is a state problem and not one that should be shifted to communities and precincts. If you would have system you must have some uniformity. Every branch of the state government that is not functioning and worth one hundred cents on the dollar valuation to the citizen should be abolished, our expenses of government prorated among those in proportion to their ability to pay.

Roads
If I have any hobby it is that of road maintenance. I believe in the construction of good roads—certainly, but I believe much more in the maintenance of these roads after they are built. Scarcely a community in the state does not furnish an object lesson of men voting bonds in the form of a mortgage on their homes and property to build good roads, and these good roads have been in the course of two, three, or five years permitted to absolutely go to waste.

An elder statesman, speaking in a Democratic Convention in the years gone by used this prophetic expression: "If you will allow the people to vote bonds upon themselves to build roads in local communities, then provide that the roads shall last at least as long as the debt."

Multipled millions of indebtedness exist for road construction, and there is no road left to show for the money that has been expended. In a certain road district of this State some seven years ago, three hundred thousand dollars in bonds were voted by the people to build "permanent" roads. Splendid results were obtained, and the roads were well built of crushed rock and gravel, and when rolled, made a very desirable highway for the first twelve months; but there was no maintenance. At the end of this period they became bumpy and uneven. The third year they were filled with chug holes, and the fourth year the traveling public avoided them by getting off in the sand or mud on each side of the graveled highway. The fifth year the "repair" gang came by with a heavy steel grader, set the points of the grade into the sand and mud on either side of the road, and proceeded to conduct a funeral of all that was left of the gravel road, and that was left of the gravel road, and the people have not seen it since; though more than thirty years of the bond issue is yet outstanding.

In another community, bonds were issued and roads were built, and traveling tourists were so impressed with the roads in this district that years afterwards one stopped to inquire and was given the following story: "The road over which you have traveled thirteen miles in length was built ten years ago of ordinary gravel, not a very expensive road. Immediately after it was finished an old man with a dump cart was placed in charge of the road as a patrolman. He was given a supply of gravel. When a defect or uneven spot appeared, he poured on a bushel or gravel and smoothed it out. When ruts appeared from heavy traffic, he took an ordinary drag and rubbed them down. He sodded the sides of the embankments with grass, and though ten years have gone by, the road is in better condition today than it was the day it was finished."

Three years ago in the State Senate, I started an agitation for a road maintenance, and have kept it up ever since. I don't believe that a bond issue for any county to build roads should ever be approved or permitted as a matter of law, unless a systematic maintenance of the roads to be built is provided for.

The boys who returned from France tell us that every few miles the great French highways there was a patrolman with his wheel barrow and road material, constantly maintaining and looking after the road.

Three years ago we put through the first road patrol law in the State of Texas, known as the Davidson-Perkins Patrol Law. It is only in effect in a few counties in Texas, particularly Cherokee, Rusk, Harrison and Stephenson. You can see the effect of it by the time you strike the border of any one of these counties.

In the session of the Legislature just adjourned, the subject of road maintenance was dealt with, and the highway department of the State of Texas was directed and instructed to provide an efficient system of road maintenance for all of the major systems of highways in the State. The plan will be something similar to the Davidson-Perkins Act. When a highway has been finished or designated, it will be cut into sections like sections on a railroad. A competent patrolman will be selected in a manner something similar to the selection of a rural mail carrier.

Out of the automobile tax and gasoline tax, there will be set aside something like two hundred dollars per mile for road maintenance of all of the designated State highways. The patrolman will be instructed and advised in the most effective way of doing his work, and will proceed on the plan that a stitch in time saves nine, so that hereafter when a county votes bonds, all of that money that is spent upon State highways will not be permitted to go to waste, as so often has been done in the past, but the roads, like wine, will get better with age.

After this State patrol system has been put in effect, no county need fear to vote bonds or to build roads. If the money is spent on State highways, the State will take care of it. Of course, the system will have to be improved upon and perfected, and we may be three or four years improving it from time to time, but I feel safe in saying that it will take care of the roads from the very beginning.

I have always believed in the old maxim that those who dance should pay the fiddler, and this is the plan for the road maintenance of the State. The property tax payer should be called upon to build a road, but the men who travel it are hereafterwards expected to maintain it. This idea has another beneficial effect too, and that is the counties of small assessed valuation and with comparatively few motor vehicles, have not under the past methods, been able to maintain their roads even after they had built them. Take the road from Austin to San Antonio as an illustration, and though Hays County built up roads several years ago, she had no maintenance system and the road went to pieces.

When the State has taken over the maintenance of the highways, the tourists in Austin, San Antonio, and all the centers of wealth of the State will aid in maintaining that road through Hays County. Only in this way can we have a continuous system of highways, and the plan is equitable and fair.

The owner of the motor vehicle, be it local resident or tourist, will really save enough on the wear and tear on his car, and increased mileage for his gasoline, to take care of the roads that have been built and maintained.

Symphony Club Has Delightful Hour Saturday

The club met at the home of Miss Genevieve Hughes Dec. 8, 1923, where a delightful time was enjoyed by everyone. With Elizabeth Jones as leader. The program proceeded as follows:

History of Violin.—Dorothy Brown
Life of Joseph Joachim.—Inez Calame.

Life of Mische Elman.—Genevieve Hughes.

Life of Eppram Limbalest.—Martha Riddle.

Life of Maud Powell.—Josephine Wofford.

Life of Fritz Kriesler.—Margaret Smith.

Reading.—Carolyn Patterson.

Pjona Solo.—Martha Mitchell.

Vocal Solo.—Marianna Murphy.

Duet.—Emma Jean Smith and Miss Ledbetter.

The guests were served to cake and ice cream and candy. Lovely little souvenir dolls were on each plate. The club adjourned to meet at the home of Elizabeth Jones, Tuesday night, Dec. 18, for a Christmas party.

C. P. Bazaar Is Planned Tuesday

The last but not least bazaar of the Christmas season will be given by the ladies of the Central Presbyterian church Thursday, the 20th of this month. The hour and the place will be announced later. They will have an assortment of articles both to eat and to wear, reasonably priced and extend an invitation to all to come and visit us, whether you have completed your Christmas shopping or not.

Funeral Home Of John R. Corley Co. Opened

The John R. Corley Company Funeral Home at 408 East Carthage St. is one of the most recent and noteworthy evidences of the progress of Mexia.

At a cost of around $10,000 the Funeral Home has been erected and equipped, offering a service to the public in line with the most recent innovations in undertaking service in this country.

The building is on a lot adjoining the John R. Corley residence, just on the edge of the business district and where the home area reaches to town. Thus conveniently located and on paved streets, the place may be reached within a few moments either on foot or by conveyance.

Before the present improvements and additions, the place was home property and occupied by residents here. It was so built that the floor plans did not have to be changed in its transformation into an ideal funeral home. These conveniences were added to by extensions of a large hall and by the addition of a room, space used as a display room. With new, polished, hard wood floors, fresh woodwork and artistic paper, the home was easily converted into a place of loveliness and beauty.

Paved driveways are being laid to the very doors, where the hearse may be driven close up to the reception hall, which also includes a desk and business office. To the right, on entering, is the room occupied by John Corley Jr., licensed embalmer and associate with his father in the business. Telephones connect the room with the local exchange, enabling the company to respond to calls for ambulance or death notices any hour of the night.

The operating room is equipped with surgical and embalming instruments, and so arranged as to lighting that it lends to the efficiency of those engaged in attending to the sacred duties of preparing a body for interment. This room is also to the left of the reception hall.

The rear room, large and tastefully decorated and arranged, is the display room. Caskets are so placed that almost a score of caskets, for adults and little ones, may be examined closely and without inconvenience. The first solemn impression of this room brings an exclamation of subdued admiration. The grave seems to lose some of its darkness and gloom in the presence of the beautiful array of robes for the dead and last resting places for their dear bodies. But, it does not cause any spectator to wish for the last hour to hastily approach. On the other hand, it inspires the living with the memory of the duty to those who pass on before. The caskets on display represent a value ranging from a few hundred dollars to a thousand. The garments for deceased men and women and little children are also on display, connecting the picture of the services required to be rendered before the funeral arrives.

The chapel adjoins this, extending to the front porch, and in it are certain, a suite of furniture, appropriate pictures and artistically placed to form a scene in keeping thoroughly with the completeness of the Funeral Home. It is commodious enough to accommodate at least 75 with comfort.

The proprietors will take pleasure, they state, in showing any visitor through the home any day and any hour.

WE ARE ALL TIED IN WITH OUR COMMUNITY.

Mexia is the home of all of us who live here. Our comfort and happiness and prosperity is all involved with the welfare of the city—how good a place it is to live in and do business in. Every citizen and every business and industry in Mexia depends upon every other citizen and business and industry for equal responsibility in building this city to be what every good citizen wants it to be—a good city in every respect.

To accomplish this we must all work together with a spirit of tolerance and understanding. We must recognize that a good city is built by no single factor. Each business and industry and citizen must add something to the process of development.

Good electric service is necessary in the building of a good city. This company fully appreciates its responsibility. It seeks to cooperate with every other concern and every citizen of Mexia, so that its contribution to civic growth may be equal to the needs of the present and future.

"Always Glad to Serve You"

Plan to Recruit Building Workers

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—(United Press)

Shortage of apprentices in the building trades is not due to American youths shying at manual labor, according to E. L. Bowman, educational director, national trade extension bureau, plumbing and heating industries. Reports throughout the country show the number of apprenticeship applicants exceeds facilities for training.

A survey of the American Contract or, builders' organ, has shown two popular misconceptions as to causes for shortage of building craftsmen. They are:

1. White-collar jobs are more popular.

2. Union leaders who profit by shortage of skilled craftsmen bar the necessary apprentices.

Employers are largely to blame for present unbalanced conditions union experts claim.

"Boys enter the period of apprenticeship expecting to receive training and experience to make them competent workmen," Bowman declared. "When they find they are to be used as cheap ditch-diggers, stock-clerks or truck-drivers, they drift away. Of the total number of boys entering into apprenticeship, only one in eight works into his trade."

Bowman's observations are said to be substantiated by experience in Chicago, Philadelphia and San Francisco, where experts from civic organizations have made surveys.

To Recruit Workers

Led by the National Association of Master Plumbers, most of the building branches have organized to remedy the situation. The following program has been adopted.

1. Appointment of an educational director to supervise apprentices in each industry.

2. Publication of text-books under supervision of trade experts.

3. Requirement of three months' pre-vocational training in public school.

4. Required night school attendance during the second and third years of apprenticeship.

A campaign against the manner of vocational instruction in some public schools will also be conducted by the craftsmen. It is asserted that many vocational courses in high schools are taught by women and there is much "mis-teaching."

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Boyd and W. K. Jr., left Friday for the week-end to be spent with her parents and other relatives at Terrell.

Even a close-fisted man may be liberal in the use of his fists.

High School Honor Roll Announced

JOY ADAMS LEADS SECOND TERM WITH AVERAGE OF 96

Assembly, 3:30 P. M.
On Thursday of the past week one of the most interesting assemblies of the term was held and very much enjoyed by the student body. The purpose was to honor the students in high school who had made an average of 90 percent for the past six weeks' work. The pupils having these averages are listed below. The highest average was made by Joy Adams with an average of 96 percent and she was followed closely by Pauline Stephens with an average of 95 percent. There is a decided increase in honor pupils since the last six weeks and Mr. Andrews expressed his sincere hope and belief that more pupils would be added at the end of each six weeks work.

Honor Roll for second term:
Edward Allen.
Machon Forrest.
Rollin Maxwell.
Joy Adams.
Dannie Lloyd Bowers.
Clara Belle Bybee.
Lola Cochran.
Hazel Cox.
Opal Hale.
Beulah Hill.
Hazel Horn.
Elizabeth Jones.
Marianna Murphy.
Pauline Stephens.
Ore Stephens.
Jessamine Sherrer.
Mary Porter Travis.
Lois Terry.
Katherine Wood.

Watch Eighth Grade Girls Become Normal

By HAZEL HORN
Miss Parker went with the eighth grade Home Economics Class to the gymnasium Tuesday morning and each girl weighed and measured her weight. It was discovered that about one-third of the class are over weight and the remaining under weight, there being only two normal pupils in the class. One girl is 41 percent overweight and another 21 percent underweight. Miss Parker gave the girls various rules on gaining and reducing, and she said the girls are very anxious that the rules should prove satisfactory. It is the aim of the class that each member shall be as nearly normal in weight as possible when school is out.

Dave 'Bonds' and Frank Ferguson of Tehuacana were in the city Thursday.

WHAT THEY THINK ABOUT US

By CHARLES WOFFORD
That Foods II Class is some peppy bunch. They work hard on the least little hunch. For instance, their instructor, Miss Parker, by name. She has time to find notes, but she works just the same. What she says goes with no hesitation. And in each Me-Hi News you'll see her name in publication. She's always planning luncheons or dinners or something like that. The girls prepare them, and to them doff our hat. Father House rolls and baked turkey hen. Salads and soups, and Oh, man! then your favorite dessert, just the way you like it. When finished just retire to the parlor and coffee awaits you to. All you have to do is talk or drink or whatever you please. For the girls are at you bidding, humble on bended knees. That's all. And then you enjoy your smoke. Oh, you'll have to admit these are real peppy folk.

Lieutenant Governor Addresses Students of High School Here

Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson addressed the student body of Mexia High School Friday afternoon. He was introduced by Superintendent Puckett. Mr. Davidson's message was one of democracy. He stated in the beginning that happiness is the evidence and fruits of constant usefulness, later emphasizing the importance of definite purpose in life. Success, according to Governor Davidson, is not a matter of rank and position but comes from honest and well done work.

Celebrity

MARGUERITE FRANKS
Everyone in high school will agree with me in saying that the girl who is called on to do any work and always responds willingly, who has a smile for everyone and who holds one of the most important offices in school, editor-in-chief of The Black Cat, is Marguerite Franks.

Marguerite came to Mexia High School from Gatesville. In Gatesville she had many important offices showing that we made no mistake in electing her as editor of our magazine and comic editor of the Aixem, the high school annual.

Marguerite is good not only in her literary work but is popular with the whole student body. She is a friend to everyone and I believe everyone is a friend to her. She has done exceptionally good work on both the Black Cat and the Aixem, and we know that she is the right girl to fill the place.

Girls' Athletics

By MARIANNA MURPHY
This is the first year that there has been systematized work in Physical Education in the Mexia High School. There is a growing demand that instruction along this line, be given in all public schools. If it did nothing more than to teach children to sit, stand, and walk correctly, it would be worth the money expended upon it.

The course in this school covers first of all the gymnasium work which consists of setting-up exercises, all kinds of marching, Indian clubs, and folk dancing, all done in rhythm and to music. In addition we have basketball and volley ball. These games foster a love for good sport and the right spirit in work and play. The work is closely supervised by the competent instructor, Miss Anne Earle. Physical growth involves the use of much energy as well as the lengthening of the nerves, muscles and bones. During late childhood the heart is growing fast, but remains weak for a time. Physical training helps to strengthen one's physique where it most needs strengthening.

Basketball is uppermost in the minds of athletic enthusiasts at present. This game requires a highly developed skill derived from the training in simpler games. We will have interscholastic games later in the season.

A district meeting of Cornish poultry breeders in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana will be held in the State Fair poultry building, Dallas, Dec. 28-Jan. 1, during the annual show of the Premier Poultry Association, it is announced. An automobile is offered as a special prize for the winner of the premium for the best pen of fowls shown.

J. H. Miller of Greenville was a Mexia visitor Thursday.

REPORT ON TRIP TO BELTON

Aileen Tittle gave a detailed and interesting report Thursday at Assembly concerning the delegates' trip to the Interscholastic Press Association at Belton. Students and faculty heard with pleasure the description of the things which the Association stands for and encourages. While Mexia contestants were not successful in obtaining any of the offered prizes, they feel that the experience was very beneficial and that it will encourage inspire them in their journalistic attempts.

Let your Christmas Gifts be Jewelry

IF YOUR friends have taste and refinement it makes it difficult for you to select a gift that will be appreciated and enjoyed.

But not if you select jewelry.

There is a gift of jewelry for everybody, —man, woman or child—and nothing so completely expresses taste and refinement as a well selected gift.

We have a selection of gifts of jewelry that has a most attractive appeal and priced in a way that will come within your means.

High School Is Complimented by State Inspector

Miss Charlotte Mayfield, inspector from the State Department of Education, spent Monday visiting the High School. On leaving she expressed herself as being well pleased with conditions in the school. Specifically she commended the equipment of the building and the courteous attitude of the student body to her as a visitor. Miss Mayfield stated that discipline in Mexia High School seems to be exceptionally good and that the boys and girls display good manners in the class rooms in the corridors. In her official capacity, Miss Mayfield has more than once been asked to suggest a typically progressive high school which might serve as a model for visitors, possibly officials in other schools. She remarked that she intends to recommend the Mexia High School as such a school.

Bagged A Buck And Hiked Home

J. D. Arrington, Roscoe Cook and Billy Wilson returned early Friday morning from a few days hunting trip in Burnett county on the Colorado river. They bagged a big buck shortly after arriving at the hunting grounds, and then made preparations to come home. Billy Wilson was the good shot that brought down the game. On the way home the hunters had to leave their car in Waco and ride the train, as the roads from here to Waco were out of banks and not negotiable.

Five Try But Only One Gets Away With It

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 14.—Five of the eighteen federal prisoners enroute from Fort Worth to the Leavenworth prison, escaped from the Rock Island train near Caldwell, Kans. Only one conspiracy prisoner escaped although several were on the train. The train was stopped at Caldwell by a burning bridge which officers believe was the work of conspirators. Search is under way and it is believed that all will be recaptured shortly as they were handcuffed.

Bootleggers To Show Why They Don't Pay Taxes

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 14.—Under recent regulations of the internal revenue department, bootleggers in Texas have been given hearings in order for them to show why they should not be taxed on their products, federal agents said today.

The hearings, it was explained, have nothing to do with the criminal issue involved but are related strictly to collection of taxes on manufacture of intoxicants. Conviction on charges of making illicit liquor, however, has been taken as supporting proof that the manufacturer should pay the government the tax.

Inasmuch as the extreme penalty for failure to pay the tax is only a stiff fine and as the hearings are not mandatory, not many bootleggers have availed themselves of the opportunity, federal officers admit.

R. M. Edwards of Fairfield was a visitor here last Thursday.

High School Boy Admits Theft of 20 Automobiles

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—Rufus Pierson, 16 year old high school student arrested on charges of stealing autos, confessed he stole twenty cars within the last sixty days on orders of his father.

On the boy's story, his father, Wilfred Pierson, and a garage keeper, Clarence Phoenix, were arrested.

Rufus, police declared, was an instructor in a neighborhood "baby auto bandit" ring. Four youths were in a stolen auto when arrested.

Through A Woman's Eyes

By SADIE KIRGAN
A TEACHER

I have grown weary of dull chalk and dust,
And hurled my strength against a solid wall,
And bruised my heart o'er weary books and themes,
Seeming so far away from all my dreams
And yearning to go forth to youth's old call.

That has been—sometimes—but more often I
Have faced the little bodies—eager-eyed,
Thrilling beneath their faith—exultant pride,
To fashion, and create a world to be,
Napoleon himself had envied me,
Knowing my power, and God-given chance,
Greater than his—upon the fields of France.

Farmers Called On To Modernize Farm Homes

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 15.—"Light tennis, horseshoes, boxing, croquet, the lamp, ma, I just filled it with kerosene!"

"Johnny, bring in some water and wood; the stove is nearly cold, and I haven't anything to wash the dishes in."

These are words still in use on most of the farms of today.

The farms of the country are not modernized to the extent of making it according to a survey of Nebraska farm boys, the duties of both being frequently performed by the women of the house, according to a survey of Nebraska farm homes completed by the Nebraska College of Agriculture here, under direction of Prof. J. O. Rankin.

Answers to a questionnaire were received from 117,758 Nebraska farms, indicating that only 14,500 of this number, or slightly more than 12 per cent, are modern in water, heat or lighting facilities, and only 2 per cent or one out of fifty, are modern in all three.

Welfare or Wealth?

This is the way the learned professor sums up the report:

"Unfortunately, the attention of most farmers organizations centered more upon wealth than upon the welfare, which is their real purpose, especially during recent years, when the loss of life in the world war and widespread economic destruction and disruption have affected the economic situation in American farm homes so much more unfavorably than in the homes of those of most other classes."

The questionnaire went into the amusements of the farmers of today and arrived at results from the answers that might prove valuable to an antiquarian of the next century. For instance, only about one-sixth of the farm households reported they played indoor games, although nearly half attend athletic games more or less as spectators. The games most frequently played are baseball, run for his money.

A woman not only wants to be beautiful, but she wants to be told that she is.

The rainbow chaser at least gets a most frequently played are baseball, run for his money.

Why Novelists Go Into Distant Past for Today's Fiction

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Why are so many of the novels and movies written nowadays set in the dim and distant past when heroes were ten-gallon hats and heroines were not permitted to show their ankles?

Answer by Mrs. Inez Hayes Irwin, wife of Will Irwin, novelist and war correspondent: "Because it is so hard to account for the life of every character during the years of the war."

Speaking before a meeting of the National Women's Party here, Mrs. Irwin commented upon the post-war reaction which has manifested itself in nearly all fields of thought.

"I mark constantly in my own profession, which is that of an author of fiction," Mrs. Irwin said, "how this tendency shows itself."

"A great interest has suddenly manifested itself, for instance, all through the reading public in the past of American history. Perhaps some of you have seen Emerson Hough's film, 'The Covered Wagon,' and perhaps you have noted how thrilled audiences are by it."

"It perhaps helps in this tendency of writers to go back into the past that almost any book of fiction of contemporary life which is not of the very instant has to account for the life of every character during the years of the war. This is a technical difficulty the irritations of which no layman can thoroughly understand."

Texas Teacher To Head School In Calcutta

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 15.—The call of India's millions has been answered by a Texas professor.

Dr. Asa Crawford Chandler, biology professor of Rice Institute, will sail about the first of the year for India where he will head the School of Tropical Medicine at Calcutta.

The school is supported by the British government supplemented by appropriations from wealthy planters anxious to conquer diseases that have long scourged India.

Dr. Crawford is widely known along biological lines having written several books on the subject. He has been at Rice since 1919 and previous to that was a member of the faculty of Oregon University. He will take his family with him.

Mexia Elks To Be Santa Claus to Kiddies

CHRISTMAS TREE TO BE GIVEN CHRISTMAS MORNING CHUCK FULL OF KIDDY GOODIES AND GIFTS

On Christmas morning at 10 o'clock a. m., the Mexia lodge of Elks, will have a beautiful Christmas tree for the poor kiddies of Mexia, and will give every kiddy a present and the other goodies that go to make this day to be remembered and appreciated, and do its best to inculcate in those who would be otherwise disappointed, the meaning of this great day.

Weather permitting, the Christmas tree will be held in the street in front of the Elks home, on North Sherman street, and if the weather is bad the tree will be in the lodge room on the second floor.

The lodge wants all of the poor children to come out to this event, and they will be looked after, and requests that all of the children whose parents give them trees and presents not to form in the circle at the presentation of the gifts as this is to remember those that do not have these things.

U. S. Now Leads in Increase of Debt

GENEVA.—The United States is now leading the entire world in increase in public debt, according to a world-wide study just completed by the League of Nations.

Reduced to the basis of pre-war prices for the purpose of comparison America's public debt is now just thirteen times what it was before the war.

The English public debt comes next, with an increase of seven times over the pre-war debt, and France comes next, with an increase of only three times her pre-war debt.

One of the surprising developments of the league's investigation into the present status of public debts, however, is the fact that it is only in those two countries where the increase has been the greatest namely the United States and Great Britain, that any substantial progress has been made towards the repayments of these debts.

According to the league's investigation, Finland carries off the palm for the smallest increase in her public debt; South Africa comes next, and then Switzerland and Sweden.

Wiped Out by Inflation

Germany, however, is marked down as being about the luckiest country of them all, because of the fact that by her "kolossal" inflation of currency her public debt is practically wiped out.

Another interesting fact which the league investigation developed is that the loans issued by Holland, Sweden and Switzerland in the United States during 1919, 1920 and 1921 have since been virtually all brought back by wealthy individuals of those countries.

The league's investigation also covered the present status of the budgets of all the leading countries of the world. While it was found that a policy of severe retrenchment has been put into force in nearly all countries and heavy saving effected, nevertheless, the increase in the public debts of virtually all countries has swallowed up all that has been saved in cutting down administrative expenses.

The detailed report is now being sent by the league to all of the nations of the world as an indication of what progress is being made towards getting back to "normalcy."

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 15.—Pursuing its policy of holding cotton on a large scale and saving many intermediate costs in marketing of the product, the Texas Farm Bureau Federation will ship an entire ship load of cotton from Houston on Dec. 20.

The Vessel, the Abercrombie, will sail with an entire cargo of cotton from the Long Beach plant of the Houston Compress Company for Liverpool England.

The ship will carry approximately 18,000 bales of Texas farmers' cotton which will be sold direct to foreign mills eliminating many intermediate costs.

If things fail to come your way, go after them.

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Dec. 15.—Plans for Waxahachie's new Country Club are rapidly assuming concrete form.

Bids have been asked for the construction of the dam of the club lake and the contract will be awarded within a few days. Work on the club house which will be one story of the Colonial style, will begin soon and plans have been completed for a nine hole golf course.

Vatican to Show Work of Catholic Missionaries in All Wild Sections

By CAMILLO CINAFARRA
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ROME. (By mail to United Press.)

Although the press has so far said very little about it and official communications have been, as usual, conspicuous by their absence, the fact remains that the Vatican is preparing a very unusual exhibition, and on such a scale as to make a permanent impression on all the tourists and pilgrims who will visit Rome during the coming jubilee, or holy year.

After the consistory, last May the Pope wrote to Cardinal Van Rossum, prefect of propaganda, to prepare a missionary exhibition for the purpose of acquainting the faithful with the doings of Catholic missionaries in all parts of the world, the results achieved and the work that is being done to initiate them into the complex mysteries of modern, civilized life.

As usual, the Pope's order was not discussed; a small committee was immediately formed and letters despatched to the four corners of the world, ordering the heads of the missions to collect the necessary material. The response was immediate and enthusiastic on the part of 400 missionaries stationed in Africa, Asia and the South Sea Islands.

A single Italian mission stationed in Africa applied for 3000 square meters of space which was reduced to 1,000 meters, as the available space does not exceed 23,000 square meters.

The exhibition will be divided into two branches, the scientific and the ethnographic. The first will house the maps of the districts where the missionaries are working, and will give complete idea of the country, the location of the tribes and the institutions established for their needs.

The ethnographic exhibition will prove the most interesting. According to the instructions issued to the missionaries, they must forward to Rome objects used by the savages in their every day life; tools of the different trades, idols, arms, furniture, cooking utensils, etc. For the larger objects, like huts, homes, boats, replicas on a smaller scale will be made.

Above all, the circular letter says, the missionaries should forward everything pertaining to the religions of the different peoples, like wooden idols, objects of worship, priests' frocks and replicas of places of worship.

The exhibition will be housed in the Pigna Court of the Vatican, where a pavilion will be erected at each of the four corners, and in the Vatican gardens, where other pavilions will occupy fifteen thousand square meters of space. Spread throughout the Pigna Court and the gardens, the visitors will find all the exhibits that can stand all kinds of weather. Cardinal Van Rossum directed that a fire house be erected nearby the Pigna Court and trained firemen recruited. Fire fighting apparatuses have also been purchased.

The exhibition will be opened to the public on December 25, 1929, and will remain open throughout the following year.

Methodists Ask Christmas Gift For the Japanese

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—The Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church announced a Christian appeal extraordinary in behalf of the Japanese Earthquake Sufferers. Under the joint auspices of the Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society a Christmas offering will be taken in twenty-five thousand Methodist Churches on Sunday, December 23rd. It is for this offering that the Bishops make the appeal which is signed by Bishop Homer C. Stuntz of Omaha, Neb., and Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Boston, for the Board of Bishops. The appeal is made in behalf of the little children of Japan and the motto of the appeal is "What fell in a day, We'll build in a day." The Bishops appeal in part follows:

"The destruction of our property is far greater than the early estimates indicate, schools, Woman's Foreign Missionary buildings, residences, Publishing House,—all have been terribly damaged or destroyed. Conservative place the losses at $1,650,000.

"The Board of Foreign Missions and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society could not be asked alone to make the replacement needed because of this dire tragedy. Hence all our connectional Boards, as represented by the Committee on Conservation and Advance and by the Executive Committee of the Council of Boards, unite in this call, and in the effort to which we summon the Church.

"The request is that all our Churches and Sunday Schools give generous offerings on Sunday, December 23, 1929, or, if this date be strictly impossible in any section on the nearest available Sunday.

"Our Japanese members on the Pacific Coast have already given with astounding generosity. Let the whole

"Let us not fail in this great endeavor. The little children of Japan wait for us to place them in the protecting arms of the Savior."

BOOZE WITH TEETH

MARLIN, Texas, Dec. 14.—Another reason for being wary of bootleg Christmas booze.

Metal tops of fifteen fruit jars filled with confiscated corn whiskey were found to be eaten away with lye when officers prepared to pour the liquor into the gutter.

The many friends of Mrs. W. R. Storey will be glad to learn that she is improving.

Dempsey May Retire—No Contenders

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Jack Dempsey talks of retiring and going into business as soon as he has added one and a half millions to his fortune by fighting Tommy Gobbons, Harry Wills and Luis Angel Firpo.

The heavyweight champion means that he will be forced into involuntary retirement if he succeeds in keeping his million dollar chin out of the range of Gobbons, Wills and Firpo.

The heavyweight class is in such a state of decline that Dempsey will be forced to do a second number with Gobbons and Firpo, and if Wills gives him a good fight he might be able to work the colored challenger up into a "logical contender" for a return bout.

Looking over the contenders as they now stand, Dempsey might be believed sincere in announcing his intentions to retire because he would have no other contender to fight.

Any deductions of this kind, however, are made without giving credit to Tex Rickard. As long as Rickard is in the promoting business it can be bet that an annual contender will be developed for a title fight.

Some boys, are working for thirty a week, and some less, will find it hard to figure what Dempsey means by quitting the fight game and going into business.

Dempsey, it would seem, is now in the most remunerative business in the world. Right off hand there can be picked from the legal, medical, professional or commercial world no young men under thirty, without an education or any bracing up, who has made $700,000 for himself and $700,000 for his partner.

Dempsey has done that. In the business of swinging his fists and from the revenue incidental to the heavyweight championship of the world, he has earned $1,400,000, and in taxes he has paid to the government at least one-fourth of that sum.

Anyone, under the circumstances, might be pardoned for asking: "What does he mean, going into business?"

Dempsey, we heard him say not so long ago, does not want to retire, unless it can be that he is in love and wants to get married.

The champion said when he was training for the Firpo fight that he intended to defend his title until he was no longer champion, as he was no more willing to cut off the revenue from the championship than any young man is to quit a job that means more than $100,000 a year without stepping into the ring.

Dempsey did say that he would never get married as long as he was the champion, and if he is so eager to get married he might retire, but with his $700,000 he'll need dough when he gets tied up and he'll have to go to work eventually.

Like any young man who once had to get there and there on the brake-horns and who many times had to get his food at back doors, Dempsey ought to have a good idea about how much a dollar is worth and there is no evidence to lead anyone to the belief that the heavyweight champion does not take care of his money.

When Firpo was being panned and ridiculed for his frugal ways during his training for the Dempsey fight a good friend of Dempsey's remarked: "Why are they panning Firpo? Did anyone ever see Dempsey throw anything away?"

Ex-Students Of T. U. Planning Big Year in '24

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 15.—"Ex-students of the University of Texas have one of the largest programs before them for 1924 that they ever have attempted. This year will be a great one in the development of the Association," said Judge D. C. Bland of Orange, president of the Ex-Students Association recently when he was in Austin conferring upon plans for the stadium.

"The loan fund which is maintained for students is growing all the time. We have made it our motto that no student who has made respectable grades need leave the University because of lack of funds, if he is willing to borrow it.

"Dr. H. Y. Benedict's 'Peregrinations' which are being printed in book form by the Association are expected to be off the press immediately after Christmas. These 'Peregrinations' are short comments on affairs of students and faculty as well as of everything pertaining to the University that have been appearing in The Alcalde for several years. We are having printed 500 copies which will sell for $3 a copy, and the copies will be numbered and autographed. All proceeds over cost will go to the loan fund.

"The directory of all students and former students which is being compiled under the direction of Max Fichtenbaum is progressing rapidly and will probably be printed by the beginning of the summer."

Several members of the faculty of Westminster College were visiting in Mexia Friday. They were: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dominy, in charge of the Dormitories of the College; Miss Alma Johnson, head of the Commercial Department; and Mrs. C. B. Miller, head of the Department of History.

Strange Story Told By Two Alto Hunters

ALTO, Texas, Dec. 15.—Rivalling the spellbinding powers of Washington Irving in his "Headless Horseman" passage from "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," is the tale of two prominent men of Alto, told when they returned from a possum hunt in the Sabine river bottoms.

Their dogs, they say, presumably treed a possum and when they shook the tree something of great weight fell with a thud. Both hunters and dogs retreated but later, gaining courage returned.

What appeared to be a headless horse sprang up at their approach and galloped off in the deepening gloom of the bottom lands, they say.

Old timers, on hearing the tale, recalled the legend of an animal ghost which haunted the woodland years ago. This was the first time it has been seen close at hand, they say.

Rooming House Raided Where Game Goes On

Chief of Police Thompson raided a rooming house in the city Friday morning, interrupting a very interesting game of poker which was in progress in one of the rooms. He stated that the party was well equipped for business from light to padded table.

The Chief made the raid alone at 2 a. m. and arrested three men who immediately paid fines of $15.70 each. Score another one for the vigilance of the Police Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Klug, Jr. have returned to their home at Long Beach, California after having spent several days with Mr. Klug's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Klug, Sr.

High School Press Announces Awards Made At Association

BELTON, Dec. 15.—One hundred and fifty delegates from forty high schools attended the second convention of the Texas High School Press Association which met last Friday and Saturday in Baylor College, Belton.

Main Avenue High School, San Antonio, took first place in the three of the six contests which the association conducted. The Huisache, the newspaper, took the Houston Post loving cup; the Huisache, the annual, was awarded the A. Zeese Engraving Company loving cup, and John Canaday, editor of the newspaper, won a scholarship for the best written news story.

The Acorn, Oak Cliff High School, Dallas, was given the Southwestern Engraving Company loving cup for the best edited annual. Napoleon Ballard, Livingston, won a scholarship for the best written editorial, and Joseph Jones, Amarillo, won the Star Engraving Company medal for the best written short story. The Tattler, of Mineral Wells High School, was awarded second place in the newspaper contest, the Tattler of El Paso, High School, third; the Round-Up of Coleman High School, fourth; the Daisy Chain, Waco High School, fifth. Brackenridge High School, San Antonio; Live Wire, Laredo; Waxa Beacon, Waxahachie, were given honorable mention.

In the annual contest the Quahai Quahai High School, took second place; the Oak, Oak Cliff High School, Dallas, third; La Retama, Brackenridge High School, San Antonio, fourth; the Coyote, Wichita Falls, fifth. The Spur, El Paso; the Lasso, North Fort Worth High School; the Pecan, Brownwood; and the Borester of Forest High School, Dallas, were given honorable mention.

Fort Worth, was second in the news story contest; Vivian Adams, Amarillo, third; Hyman Schaefer, Brackenridge High School, San Antonio, fourth and Dorothy Brenner, Main Avenue High School, San Antonio, fifth.

In the editorial contest, Ruby Brouskie, Bryan High School, won second place; William Rosin, Brackenridge High School, San Antonio, third; Grace Stiles, Taylor, fourth; and Patsy Gardner, Livingston, fifth.

Jennie Mae Jackson, Sherman, took second place in the short story contest; Lorene Drummond, Childress, third; Dorothy McGonagill, Central High School, Fort Worth, fourth; and Morton Heylett, Taylor fifth.

Nineteen schools were admitted into the association. They are: Celina, Brackenridge, Amarillo, El Paso, Childress, Whitewright, Livingston, Taylor, La Grange, Heights Senior High School, Houston, Laredo, Mexia, Politechnic High School, Fort Worth, Coleman, Waco Abilene, Ranger, Bryan and Memphis. Terrill Preparatory School, Dallas, was also admitted, but because it is an academy, it will not be permitted to compete with the high schools.

Powell Kelly, Waxahachie, was elected president of the association, for next year. Other officers are: Vice-President, Frances McClellan, Oak Cliff, Dallas; recording secretary, Sam Bashara, Wichita Falls; corresponding secretary, R. I. Tennent, Jr., Temple; treasurer, Marvin Griffith, Mineral Wells. The members of the executive board are: Fritz Kante, Taylor; Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth; Philis Fulk, San Antonio.

Beginning in January, the association will edit a magazine for the purpose of instructing the students how to put out better publications. This will take the place of the monthly bulletin.

The association will meet next year at Baylor College, Belton, December 4 to 6.

Some breeder of fine poultry is going to win an automobile at the Premier Poultry Association's annual show in the State Fair poultry building, Dallas, Dec. 28-Jan. 1. The association has offered the car as a special prize to the winner of the premium for the best pen of fowls exhibited. W. W. Brady, Allen, Texas, the association secretary, makes the announcement.
